Canada Has Sought For Years to Have Embargo Abolished—Stockmen all Over Western Canada Welcome News—Claim New Life for Industry.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The House of Commons moved swiftly today toward ratification of the United Kingdom's Ottawa conference agreements with the dominions after lifting a long standing embargo against importation of Canadian cattle to Great Britain.

End of the embargo which Canada had sought for years to have removed came in committee stage of the Ottawa agreements bi'' last night and was passed without a division.

Malcolm MacDonald, undersecretary for Dominions and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's son told the house there was no need for further fear that Canadian cattle might be diseased.

At the same time he announced the government would reduce to one day in the case of Canada the customary three days quarantine for cattle at the port of shipment for possible development of disease. Length of the voyage across the Atlantic, he explained, gave PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Robert Griffith Bishop would tell you, if he were the loquacious sort, that he probably holds the "itchy kitchy" record in suburban Wynnewood.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bishop, this nine-months-old child has 32 living ancestors aside from his parents. They include four grandparents, five great-granuparents, nine great-great aunts, four great-great uncles, eight great-aunts and two great-uncles.

MANCHU REVOLT SPREADS EAST

HARBIN, Manchuria, Nov. 2.—Latest conflicts in the prevailing Manchurian campaign were fought Sunday and Monday along the Tsitsihar-Koshan railway, Japanese military leaders in Harbin were informed today.

These battles indicated the revolt against the Japanese and against the new state of Manchukuo had spread to the east, involving thousands of fresh warriors.

The Japanese lost at least 35 killed and 44 wounded in pitched battles Sunday and Monday at Laha and Taianchen, north and northeast of Tsitsihar. They asserted the Chinese casualties exceeded 1,000.

JURY BLAMES DEATH CORNER FOR ACCIDENT

Disregard Charge of Coroner Who Brands Turn "Fools' Corner"

Completely disregarding the line of evidence and tossing aside the charge read to them by Chief Provincial Coroner Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, a jury of six men returned a verdict blaming the death of Mrs. Louise Poepping on the condition of the S turn at Oliver Crossing, on the Edmonton-Calgary trail, at the inquest held Tuesday afternoon in Hainstock's funeral parlors.

Mrs. Poepping died, according to medical testimony, of a broken neck, received when her head came into violent contact with the roof of her husband's car when it went into the ditch after failing to negotiate the turn three miles south of Strathcona, Friday afternoon last. The driver, Poepping, and two children who rode together in the front seat of the old coupe with the victim, escaped serious injury.

"I call it fools' corner," stated the coroner in his charge to the jury, "not "death corner.'"

Under examination on the stand, Poepping said he had failed to see the warning signs on approaching the turn.

CHICAGO POLICE MAKE ARRESTS CAPONE CHIEFS

Firm of "Consulting Engineers" Are Taken Into Custody

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Two detectives invaded offices of a firm of "consulting engineers" in a loop skyscraper today and seized ten men, among them several former associates of the deposed and imprisoned "Scarface" Al Capone.

Police declared the gangsters were preying upon contractors, demanding half of their profits for the "privilege" of operating.

Those arrested were:

Murray Humphries, 29, owner of a cleaning and dyeing business, a recognized leader of the Capone syndicate since its chieftain went to prison.

William "Klondike" O'Donnell, one of the oldest veterans of the city's protracted "beer wars."

Willis "Three Fingered Jack" White, labor racketeer, once tried for murder and reputed Capone "strong arm" man.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Balked last night in their third attempt to enforce their demands, the unemployed "hunger marchers" who straggled into London last week turned homeward today.

W. A. L. Hannington, the Communist agent who organized the march of the idle from Scotland, Wales and the industrial centres of England, was in jail. His associates' who precipitated melees in Parliament Square last night also were in the hands of the police.

So this morning 30 men who had trudged with the others through the rain last week climbed aboard a charabanc and started back for Brighton whence they came, other contingents prepared to go back home before the end of the day.

Meanwhile, the historic precincts of Parliament Square were in the hands of police after a mass attack of thousands of jobless had precipitated another boisterous disturbance.

BEGAN AT DUSK

The disorders began at dusk in the heart of the capital and quiet was not completely restored until nearly midnight. Scores suffered minor injuries.

This was brought to a climax a series of disturbances that began last night in a march on parliament to protest against the government's application of the dole system.

The first disorder came October 21 when parliament reconvened. The national "hunger army's" arrival in London last Thursday was the signal for the second, and the third came Sunday night in Trafalgar Square when a rush was made for Buckingham Palace.

All told, the seriously injured in these four outbursts have numbered more than 100, including 15 taken to hospitals last night and released after treatment.

Legion officials here strongly oppose the postmaster general's orders that postmen work on November 11 as they believe the day should be a complete national holiday. Mr. Stanley informed the Legion heads he would "leave no stone unturned" in his efforts to have Remembrance Day proclaimed a public holiday in every respect.

PARLIAMENT IS READY TO VOTE ON TRADE PACT

Substantial Majority in Favor of Ratification is Assured

OTTAWA, Nov. 2. — Refreshed after a holiday yesterday, members of the House of Commons assembled today prepared to vote on the ratification of the trade treaty between Canada and the United Kingdom. If nothing unforeseen crops up to delay proceedings, the vote will be taken tonight and a substantial majority in favor of ratification is assured.

The vote will bring to an end nearly three weeks of debate in which the merits of the treaty have been analyzed from all angles. Liberals have condemned it absolutely, Conservatives have been equally firm in upholding and Farmer members from Alberta have partly approved and partly condemned it.

With the United Kingdom treaty ratified, approval of the other treaties signed at the Imperial economic conference, with the Irish Free State, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia, will likely be a matter of form.

The next step will be the sanctioning of the 200-odd changes in the tariff necessitated by the treaties and, that done, the fall session of parliament will have practically completed its work.

Treasure Hunt Follows Discovery Of Gold Nuggets

GREENUP, Ky., Nov. 2.—Talk of a treasure hunt stirred this town Tuesday following the discovery of a petrified human arm, Indian relics and 12 nuggets which apparently are gold, in an obscure cavern, 18 miles southwest of here.

Three Greenup men, L. G. Stapf, undertaker, Dr. C. P. Norton, and Edward Wellman, who entered the cave, planned to act today to secure mineral rights on surrounding land.

Inside the cave they found a room about 15 feet high, 12 feet wide and 14 feet long, with openings to other underground chambers. A more detailed examination of the cavern will be made later, the men said.

NEW LOAN IS ANNOUNCED IN BRITAIN TODAY

Latest Conversion Issue is For About $1,092,000,000

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The fourth big governmental financial operation since the spring was announced today in the form of a new three per cent conversion loan totalling £300,000,000 (about $1,092,000,000 at present Canadian exchange). Government stocks immediately strengthened on the stock exchange.

The loan will be offered at 97½ and will be used to pay off the remainder of the unconverted war loans and five per cent treasury bonds, which were not taken up in the giant conversion loan executed last spring. This latest operation places the entire British long-term credit on practically a three per cent basis.

Conversion operations conducted since July have effected a gross saving of £38,000,000 in the annual interest payment on the national debt. Indictaion that the government is confident of the successful result of the offering is seen in the fact that the lists for the new loan will both open and close tomorrow. Arrangements have been made through the post office to enable the small investors to participate.

As direct result of the announcement of the new loan government issues rose on the stock exchange this morning between 1½ to 1¾ points.

Bracken Admits Knowledge of Fund Shortage

PREMIER SAYS HE IS MISLED BY AUDITORS

No Idea of Defalcation Prior to Government Re-election

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2.—Knowledge of $500,000 indebtedness by Machray and Sharpe to the University of Manitoba trust accounts was not gained by Premier John Bracken until the day after the provincial elections of June 16.

The Premier told a board of enquiry Tuesday that a copy of a letter to the minister of education dated May 23, was left on his desk on May 23 but, owing to election activities, he did not read it until he returned to his office on June 17, the day after his government was re-elected. He admitted he had been in the city on different occasions between May 25 and June 17 but hadn't bothered with his "accumulated correspondence."

GOT IN TOUCH

The letter, addressed to Hon. R. A. Hoey, with copies to Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, and Mr. Bracken, was from Robert Drummond, comptroller-general, and advised the minister of education that John A. Machray, custodian of university investment funds, was indebted to the college by more than $500,000.

Immediately he learned of the matter Mr. Bracken said he got in touch with the minister of education, who advised him the matter was "in hand." From then until July 7 or 8 when he met Mr. Major at The Pas on a deferred election campaign, he had understood the matter was being cleared up.

He was then kept informed of subsequent developments which led to the conviction of Machray for stealing $500,000 from the funds.

PREMIER NOT CONSULTED

The premier declared he was not consulted regarding the reappointment of Machray to the board of governors on July 16, a little more than a month before he was arrested and almost a month after Drummond had advised the ministers of the former chairman's failure to account for a half million dollars worth of college securities.

Assurances by Drummond on Feb. 4, that he had checked all government accounts and investigated possibility of any repetition of a departmental defalcation, was taken by Mr. Bracken to include all departments coming under the jurisdiction of the comptroller-general, he said.

STATEMENT DENIED

Denial of a statement by Drummond who said he had conversed with the Premier regarding the subject between May 23 and the day after the election was made by Mr. Bracken who spent the afternoon in the stand.

The only conference he had with Drummond was in September said the Premier, who answered the commission, when questioned that he had "no idea" prior to the election of any such defalcation.

DEATH CORNER

highways or in the city and fails to keep his head and heed the signs is a menace to the public at large."

FOUR IN COUPE

Poepping admitted three rode in the front seat with him. Between the deceased and the driver sat a small boy and on Poepping's lap sat the young daughter.

"Four in the car," continued the coroner in his charge, "two of them being children. Stop and think for a moment—an emergency arises—one person too many in the front seat—what happens? Just what happened here. The trail is well marked, but the driver says he did not see the signs. From driving hundreds of miles over the province, I can state that the corner is as well and better marked than any other on any road. But the driver says he did not see the signs."

Yet, even in the face of this charge from the coroner, an official of His Majesty who holds jurisdiction over Supreme Court judges, the jury returned the following verdict:

"We attach no reasonable blame to the driver of the car whose evidence showed that he had driven a considerable distance that day negotiating all turns on this well marked highway until he came to the S turn which is so much more severe than any other."

"And not being prepared for the abruptness of the turn and narrowness of the road, his car was forced off the road and upset, thus causing the accident."

"We attribute the accident to be directly caused by the condition of the corner at this place."

The jury was then dismissed and the corner called Poepping to the stand.

"Next time you drive on that highway, watch for the signs," warned the Coroner, "and slow down."

"Yes," answered Poepping, "that was the first time I had driven on any highway."

HAD NECK BROKEN

Dr. Keillor, medical witness testified that the victim had died of a broken neck.

"They drove her to my office from the scene of the accident," stated the doctor, "and by that time life was extinct."

F. R. Haythorne testified that he was working on the corner that day hauling dirt for the widening of the grade. He was the driver of the car that took the victim to the office of the doctor instead of rushing her directly to the hospital.

The driver of the death car was then called to the stand and had to be questioned before he would tell his story of the fatal accident.

"I was coming along at about 35 miles per hour," he stated, "and did not see the signs. I couldn't make the turn and the car went over the bank."

"And you saw no signs?" asked the coroner.

"It was like a dream," replied witness.

"Did you know the corner was coming?"

"No."

"How were your brakes?"

"Good."

"How many in the car?"

"Four."

"Didn't you know that four was too many?"

"No."

"How long have you been driving?"

"Over 12,000 miles."

"Have you a driver's license?"

"Yes."

"When did you get it?"

"Last September."

Testimony ended, the jury heard the Coroner's charge which branded the Oliver Crossing as "Fools' Corner", rather than the name of "Death Corner."

Finding that the jury had completely disregarded his charge, the Provincial Coroner made only one statement.

Which Prince Will Ingrid Wed—Wales Or George?

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, Nov. 2—Princess Ingrid, Sweden's 22-year-old princess is going to marry into Britain's royal family—that seems to be certain.

But which of the two royal brothers, if either, will she wed?—that has London's royalty-wise gossipers pondering.

The Prince of Wales and his youngest brother, the tall, handsome Prince George, have been in Stockholm together for an official visit to Sweden's court. And reports that Princess Ingrid is definitely engaged to one of the British princes are persistent.

The name of the Prince of Wales often has been romantically linked with that of Ingrid, but both London and Stockholm society now say that Prince George will be Europe's next royal bridegroom. London fully expects an announcement of betrothal to follow the visit of the princes to Scandinavia.

* * *

The Prince of Wales, now 38, gives no sign that he is contemplating the marriage that all Europe has been expecting for more than a decade.

Prince George, who will be 30 on Dec. 20, probably will be made a duke as a birthday gift. He is the only one of King George's sons who has not been so honored. London believes that announcement of the dukedom may be followed by announcement of his bethrothal or a setting of the marriage date.

There is little feeling in London that Princes Edward and George are "rivals" for Ingrid's hand. They have been the "pals" of the royal family. They have made many tours together, notably the long one to South America.

Prince George, like his royal father, elected for his chosen field of work the royal navy. He finally had to retire because of ill health. Then he was given a job in the foreign office, specializing in the translation of French documents, but again had to relinquish the task because it was too confining.

* * *

Latterly he has been given an increasing number of duties in the way of attending public functions and making speeches. He has been kept almost as busy as the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York.

Prince George is the royal family's exhibit A as a dancer. He's the best tripper of the light fantastic in the House of Windsor. Also he likes the ladies. As a young subaltern, he often fell for a pair of bright eyes and a smiling mouth.

The sequel always was amusing. The powers that be would suddenly remember that, after all, the prince was a young naval officer and down would come an order transferring him to the other side of the earth. Thus once he was suddenly ordered to duty in Chinese waters and on another occasion was sent to a naval job in the West Indies.

Commission Rejects Beatty's Plans For Merging C.N.—C.P.

Thornton Recommendations Accepted Instead by Royal Group

"Plans put forward by E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Gerard Ruel, K.C., former legal vice-president of the Canadian National Railway, for the solution of Canada's vexed railway situation were rejected by the recent Royal Commission on transportation in order that the scheme suggested by Sir Henry Thornton, former C.N.R. president, might be adopted in its substantial outline.

"This is the interesting fact disclosed by the evidence of the Royal Commission, which has just been deposited in the parliamentary library.

VOLUMINOUS EVIDENCE

"The evidence, which is voluminous, makes engrossing reading. Perhaps as sensational an angle to it as any is the statement of Mr. Ruel after his years of association with the Canadian National system, that he does not believe in public ownership.

"'My experience of public ownership of railways has been that it means government ownership,' he told the commissioners.

"'You mean political ownership?' Sir Joseph Flavelle asked him.

"'Yes,' Mr. Ruel returned.

"The plan of President Beatty of the C.P.R. for the solution of the country's transportation difficulties, as revealed by the evidence, was for the government to lease the C.N.R. to the C.P.R. for a long term, or else in perpetuity. Mr. Beatty estimated that the C.P.R. management of the two systems would result in economies totalling $50,000,000 annually.

BEATTY ESTIMATE SHADED

"In commenting upon this scheme, C.N.R. witnesses before the commission were inclined to shade Mr. Beatty's estimate of the savings possible under the plan. They would not amount, in their opinion, to more than $30,000,000 annually.

"Mr. Ruel's proposal was virtually temporary amalgamation. He offered the commission a draft bill to be presented to parliament which would create what he termed a 'Railway Managing Committee.' This committee would consist of 10 directors, of whom the C.P.R. would appoint five and the C.N.R. five. The two roads would then execute entrusting agreements, turning over their properities to this committee to manage for a period of five years, the arrangement to be terminated or continued by parliament at the end of that time as might be deemed best.

$30,000,000 SAVING

"Mr. Ruel computed that the savings which would be possible under his plan would reach $30,000,000 per year.

"It was in connection with his presentation of his proposal that the then legal vice-president of the C.N.R. frankly stated his disbelief in public ownership of the railways. He said that in his long experience with the system, public ownership had always meant government ownership, by which, he agreed, he meant political ownership.

"By Mr. Loree, the American member of the Royal Commission, Mr. Ruel was asked why the C.N.R. did not cut wages by 15 per cent and save $37,000,000 overnight.

"Mr. Ruel replied that he only wished they could. Their inability to do so illustrated the very point he had raised.

"If the railway management did pass such an order there would be peremptory demand from the government before 24 hours was over to rescind it. Political pressure would be exercised.

"Sir Henry Thornton's scheme was to keep both railways intact but to provide some effective plan of enforcing co-operation in place of existing competition. His proposal was that a rump of the Royal commission should be left to act as a railway arbitral court, with authority to act to curb competition or bring about co-operation. Sir Henry also suggested that the unwieldy C. N. R. board, selected on the basis of geographic qualification, should be scrapped in favor of a smaller body of say, 10 members, two of whom should be the president of the company and the legal vice-president, two Conservatives, two Liberals, two Progressives, one representative of labor and one representative of the minister of railways and canals.

IN BOARD'S HANDS

"The two officers of the company would become ex-officio members of the board. The responsibility of selecting the other members should be reposed in the government."

He suggested affairs of the company should be left entirely in the hands of this board except insofar as capital expenditures were concerned.

In regard to a super-commission, Sir Henry said: "It is suggested that this royal commission be continued for a period at lest in the selection of three of its Canadian members, and that the royal commission so constituted receive, examine, and determine the annual capital budget of the Canadian National Railways."

DINNER PARTY TO BE SCENE OF BETROTHAL

One of Most Beautiful of Europe's Girls to Wed Prince George

LONDON, Nov. 2—A rumor went the rounds today in London and Stockholm that the engagement of Prince George of England and Princess Ingrid, of Sweden, will be announced here November 11 at a meeting of the British and Swedish royal families.

The occasion would be a dinner in London celebrating the 50th birthday of the Princess' father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf.

Photographs showing Prince George, who will be 30 years old Dec. 20, and Ingrid, who is 22, together, were the order of the day during her recent visit with relatives in London and when Prince George went along with his elder brother to Sweden last month. The Princess Ingrid is back in London today visiting her grandfather, the Duke of Connaught.

In recent years her name has been linked with other young men of prominence, including Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark, and Count Nils Von Rosen. Her reported engagement to the Count was denied just a year ago.

LABOR REFUSES INDIA CONFAB

LONDON, Nov. 2—Political correspondence of morning newspapers said today the parliamentary Labor Party had declined to take part in the Indian Round Table conference which is expected to begin here on November 15.

The refusal, the correspondents said, was due to the fact the party wished to remain independent of any government schemes for the present.

MACHRAY ON SICK BED TO GIVE EVIDENCE

Dying of Cancer, Prisoner Expected to Tell of Thefts

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2—A little old man, slowly dying in penitentiary from the ravages of cancer, today will reveal an untold story of a financial catastrophe that shattered University of Manitoba endowments, depleted Church of England funds, and sent him to prison for seven years.

In a solid cell of the Stony Mountain penitentiary hospital, physicians were preparing John A. Machray for an interview with a board of enquiry investigating $1,000,000 refalcations in college funds. The former lawyer, churchman, financier and one of Winnipeg's leading citizens, has expressed a desire to make a statement to the commission.

RACKED WITH PAIN

His body racked with pain, doctors say, the former bursar and chairman of the University Board of Governors has already struggled against his illness long enough to prepare two statements for the board. Contents of the papers, with verbal supplements, will be presented to the commission when they meet the 67-year-old prisoner.

The scene of the interview has not been definitely decided because of the uncertainty of the aged patient's condition. If the prison doctor gives his permission Machray will be carried on a stretcher or will be wheeled into the warden's office to receive the board. If his condition will not permit this he will be taken from his sick-room cell to the hospital operating room from which newspaper men will be excluded. Telegraphic instructions from the minister of justice at Ottawa prevent reporters from going any further than the warden's office, it was said.

The commission is seeking to determine what became of the huge sums that disappeared from the trust funds held in custody by Machray, who has been confined to bed since sentenced last September.

SLEEPS BUT LITTLE

Peculiarities of his illness prevent him from sleeping any more than three hours at a time, physicians say, and his health has failed considerably during the last few months.

When misappropriation of the funds first began and if any other persons were associated with him in his thefts also will be asked of Machray. Shortages have been traced back seven years but evidence given before the board indicated they might extend as far as 10 or 20 years.

Travelling by motor the board will leave the city for the penitentary about 1:30 in the afternoon (Central Standard Time) and expect to reach the prison in about an hour. It is doubtful, however, if the commission will meet Machray before 3:00 o'clock.

ist leader of the "hunger army," who was to have led a deputation toward parliament, the jobless attempted to marshal their strength last night as they had threatened, but for the most part their efforts were sporadoc and again it was mischievous London youths who gave the police most trouble.

The police won in a series of battles that raged along Victoria embankment, Pall Mall, the Strand, Trafalgar Square and Whitehall.

The police got the jump on the demonstrators when the jobless drifted toward Parliament square in small groups from many directions just after dark. Their thousands were augmented by thrill-seeking spectators.

SPECTATORS OVERFLOW

By 1 p.m. the huge press of spectators had overflowed into the streets and pushed near the massive iron gates leading into parliament. At that point mounted police filed silently out of Scotland Yard anad converged toward parliament buildings from three directions.

There were boos and catcalls as the bobbies on foot pushed back the throngs into Whitehall toward Trafalgar Square and away from the house of commons. One charge was made at the cenotaph when the crowd attempted to grab up wreaths.

The steady retreat continued, until the throngs were backed into Trafalgar Square, tempers mounting in the process. Gradually there arose resistance and within half an hour a street battle was in full swing, with mounted police backing up foot officers in the front line against the demonstrators.

ADVANCE INTO BARRAGE

The police advanced into a barrage of bricks, stones and lumps of coal. There was much window smashing along Villiers street leading out of Charing Cross. Isolated instances of looting occurred.

The mounted police finally turned the tide, breaking the throng up into small groups, then dispersing each one, until at midnight all was quiet in the heart of London.

Meanwhile Hannington remained in custody, and was joined in jail by 60 or more of the demonstrators. The charge against him was attempting to incite to mutiny.

His petition, signed, he said, by 1,000,000 persons and demanding abolition of the means test and higher appropriations for the unemployed, was not presented to parliament because he scorned tradition and declined the offer of a member to present it, preferring the direct march on the House of Commons.

27 ARRAIGNED

Twenty seven of the prisoners taken last night were arraigned in Bow Street police station today on charges of assaulting police, wilful damage to property, and insulting behavior.

A strong force of foot police reinforced with mounted reserves was held in the vicinity in case of trouble.

John Gellatly, a young Scotsman with a bandaged head, who was declared by the police to be the leader of the Whitehall section of the mob, was sentenced to six months hard labor.

As sentence was passed he threw up his arms and screamed:—

"Down with the Means test! Down with the starvation government!"

The prisoner resisted efforts to take him from the dock. Struggling violently he was dragged down and pushed through the prisoners' door of the court room.

ample time for disease to develop if it were present.

Earlier in the debate the government upheld prime Minister R. B. Bennett's interpretation of the United Kingdom's tariff preference on Canadian goods "that preferences would not be available to goods sent from Canada to the United States and reconsigned from there."

Discussion of this point arose when J. Sandeman Allen, Conservative and vice president of the association of British Chambers of Commerce, moved an amendment urging wheat consigned from the United States to Great Britain receive the regular Empire preference if certified by a Canadian office as Canadian grown. The amendment was defeated by a large majority.

Rejection of Mr. Allen's plan brought somewhat bitter comment today from the Financial News; the newspaper suggested the government's acceptance of Mr. Bennett's interpretation of its preferential tariff ruling might lead transport interests in the Canadian house of commons to insist Canadian wheat consigned to the United Kingdom be shipped from Canadian ports only in winter it pointed out, this would mean an extra rail haul to the Atlantic coast and would involve extra expense.

FORCE CARRIAGE

It suggested also Canadian transport interests might attempt to force carriage of all Britain-bound Canadian wheat on Canadian lake steamships by eliminating competition of United States waterborne carriers.

Removal Sought For Many Years

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—Removal of restriction on the importation of Canadian cattle into the United Kingdom has been sought for years by Canadian governments and agricultural interests. Not until the Imperial Economic Conference which met here in July did the British government consent to modification and the legislation submitted to the House of Commons in London last night is in fulfillment of the terms of the trade treaty signed at the conference.

Originally imposed for the protection of British cattle against disease, the restrictions were maintained despite repeated protests from Canadian agricultural experts that Canadian cattle were as healthy as any in the world.

The restrictions operated chiefly to prevent the shipment of feeder or store cattle by requiring that Canadian cattle must be slaughtered at the point of disembarkation of, if they thus placed serious difficulties in the way of unfinished Canadian cattle to English farmers for fattening.

Since the virtual closing of the United States market for Canadian cattle by the imposition of the present tariff increasing attention has been paid to the British market for feeder cattle. Under the guidance of Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, trial shipments of Canadian cattle were sent overseas to test out prospects of building up a market despite the restrictions.

As a result the volume of exports has shown a slight increase recently. For instance in the three month period, April to June this year, 7,729 head valued at $567,025 were shipped to the United Kingdom compared with $5,764 head valued at $482,310 in the same period of 1931.

Article five of the Canada-United Kingdom trade treaty deals with the cattle restrictions. It reads: "His majesty's government in the United Kingdom will invite parliament to pass the legislation necessary to modify the condition at present governing the importation into the United Kingdom of live cattle from Canada on the lines already agreed upon in principle between themselves and His Majesty's government in Canada."

BURNSTINE IN LEAD FOR U. S. CHAMPIONSHIP

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—David Burnstine and his bridge team led P. Hal Sims' foursome by 225 points at the end of the first half of the final in the Vanderbilt cup tournament last night for the United States championship.

The Sims quartette rolled up the large margin of 1,535 points on 15 boards in the afternoon session. On 15 more boards last night, however, Burnstine's side scored a plus of 1,760 points to forge ahead of their New York rivals.

Thirty more boards will be played in one session this evening to decide possession of the big silver trophy which betokens team-of-four supremacy.

Blonde Is Held In Mystery Death Of Paris Jeweler

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A comely blonde woman and two men were detained for questioning last night by detectives investigating the mysterious death of Archille Mirner, wealthy Parisian jeweler.

They said the three were connected with a "clip joint" speakeasy in which Mirner was charged $157 after spending some time drinking there early Sunday. A few hours later he staggered into a Broadway hotel, bleeding from what apparently was a terrific beating.

The three detained, who denied knowledge of Mirner's death, said they were: Mrs. Eleanor Thompson, 22, an entertainer; Lawrence Ganz, salesman, and Herman Newbury, taxi driver.

Livestock Man Welcomes News

CALGARY, Nov. 2—"The finest thing that ever happened to western Canada," was the quick way in which J. W. Durno, prominent Calgary livestock man, termed the announcement from London last night the United Kingdom embargo against Canadian cattle had been removed.

"It means new life for the ranchers of the west," he added, "and they will derive the real benefits from the change next March and April. It is going to mean a real quickening of the industry."

Mr. Durno did not think any benefits would be derived this autumn through likely inability of exporters to obtain shipping space. If space were available, shipments might be made during the next few months.

FAIRER COMPETITION

"We have now gained fairer competition with the Irish cattle exporters and others," he said, in pointing out that the embargo was always a detriment to Canadian ranchers in exporting. Canadians would now be able to sell their cattle in the Old Country as they saw fit, and would not have to have them slaughtered immediately on arrival or held in quarantine with unfavorable results.

Mr. Durno's opinions were supported by numerous other cattle men in the southern sections of the province, men who have been exporting from their own ranches. The opinion was general that the benefits of the embargo removal would bring impetus to exporting in the spring.

REGINA, Nov. 2—Lifting of the embargo against Canadian catle by the United Kingdom was welcomed last night by J. G. Robertson, Saskatchewan livestock commissioner.

"This will be a good thing for the cattle industry throughout the west," he stated, adding that it would be advantageous for all Canada as well.

Shortening of the detention period was a matter that had been sought by the cattle trade for some time, he stated.

Once Again Great Rivalry Exists In Systems Of Bridge

Culbertson Team Eliminated in First Round of New Rules

This is the first of three articles on the differences between the contract bidding methods of P. Hal Sims and Ely Culbertson. The first article describes the chief differences in the systems. In ensuing articles the chief exponent of each method will compare the two systems.

By TOM O'NEIL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Once again a great rivalry of systems exists in contract bridge, and it will be intensified by changes in rules which went into effect Monday.

Peace between the Culbertson and "official" systems, which had a prolonged test last winter, has been followed by marked success in tournament play on disciples of P. Hal Sims. Followers of Ely Culbertson also have had notable victories.

Culbertson, who announced his retirement from championship play after defeating Sidney S. Lenz last winter, returned to the table for the Vanderbilt cup competition last week. His team was eliminated in the semi-finals by a team using Sims' methods.

PLAY SPECIAL MATCH

Two teams playing the Sims' system reached the final round. Mrs. Culbertson entered a team which was defeated by Sims' own combination in the round before the semi-finals.

Before the tournament Sims expressed Willingness to play Culbertson a special match. Culbertson did not accept, but evidently the end is not yet.

Opening bids of one—Culbertson, stronger in third or fourth positions; Sims, stronger in first and second positions.

One over one—Culbertson, a bid by partner of one of a higher valued suit over the opener's bid of one of a suit is merely an invitation to the opening bidder to bid again if possible; Sims, such an overcall is a force upon the opening bidder requiring him to rebid.

NO TRUMP

No trump—Culbertson: A suit is bid at the start of the auction whenever possible; Sims: preference is given to opening bids of no trump when a hand contains tenaces.

Hand valuation—Culbertson: precise values of all combinations of honors, with a minimum and probable requirement of 2½ honor tricks fo ropening the bidding; precise honor tricks counting for determining game and slam possibilities; Sims: consideration of the construction of the hand rather than honors with differentiation between aggressive and defensive types of valuation based on "primary" tricks like the old auction "quick" tricks. The standard of primary tricks for opening bids varying with the type and position of hand; consideration of losing tricks rather than honors and probable tricks.

Opening two and three bids—Stronger with Sims than Culbertson.

Pre-emptive opening bids—Culbertson: A favorite opening when a hand contains one long strong suit; Sims: Such a bid forbidden.

Raising partner's opening bid—Culbertson: The Maximum raise immediately if the suit bid by the opener best fits the responding hand; Sims: A raise of partner's suit immediately to game indicates slam possibilities; a rise to one less than game indicates willingness to play for game.

Tomorrow Sims will compare the two systems.

Vandals Damage Radio Equipment

F. J. Kidd, of 11244 66 street, complained to police that Tuesday night damage had been done to the radio attachments outside his residence. The wires and ropes on his 20 foot radio pole had been snipped and the pulley by which the lead-in wire is run up the mast, fell to the ground.

This will necessitate digging up the pole, with a base sunk eight feet in the ground, to replace the pulley and put the radio in working order again.

200 Hear Barrage Of Statistics At Ratepayers Meet

A. E. Ottewell Guarantees No School Board Deficit in 1932

Starting with an attendance of 200 persons which dwindled to 50 as they wearied of the barrage of statistics dealing with the city's business during the past year, North Side Ratepayers gathered in the Memorial hall on Tuesday night for the annual review presented by Mayor Knott, Commissioner D. Mitchell, A. E. Ottewell of the Edmonton School board and three aldermen. Harry Miller made an efficient chairman.

While the number of questions were asked, none of them were of the sort which can come under the head of heckling and the meeting passed off quietly. Last year, some 30 persons only attended this meeting. A complete summary of all reports will be found on page 10 of this issue.

The questions asked ranged through religion and relief, with taxation and unemployment as the popular subjects.

A. E. Ottewell was the first speaker, after Mr. Miller had been elected chairman by the audience.

NO DEFICIT GUARANTEED

Mr. Ottewell gave a very complete statistical presentation of Edmonton's investment in its schools, the number of teachers and pupils, the varying proportions in which the moneys available are allotted and other matters of a like nature. He guaranteed, unless there was an earthquake or a general fire, that there would be no deficit in 1932. He then offered to answer any questions.

"How many Roman Catholic children are attending the public schools, and how many of their parents are contributing to the costs of the Edmonton school board?" asked a lady.

"Ha, I expected that question and I came prepared to answer it," retorted Mr. Ottewell.

A total of 566 Roman Catholic pupils, and 302 Greek Catholic pupils are attending public schools in this city, instead of separate schools, Mr. Ottewell explained. With regard to the proportion of parents paying taxes, it had been difficult to get complete figures for various obvious reasons, such as the fact that some parents are renters, many do not care to admit much about their religion, and so on. But of 205 burgesses investigated, it was shown that 109 were paying their taxes to the Edmonton School board and 96 to the Separate schools.

"How many married women are working for the school board?" asked another citizen.

EVERY CASE REVIEWED

"Very few. It is the policy of the board not to employ married women, except those who are supporting families. Every such case is reviewed annually," was the answer.

"What about military training of the pupils?"

"This ceased on September 1."

Mayor Dan Knott made the important announcement that the sinking fund board will pay out $6,300,000 to meet due payments in 1933, and not olny this, but all of the money in the sinking board funds was accounted for and it is all in high class Dominion, provincial and municipal bonds.

The mayor then gave a general summary of the conditions confronting the city—of how finance and unemployment are the two great interlocking problems confronting the city's government at present.

NO MARKET FOR BONDS

There is no market for bonds at present, and through the co-operation of the Imperial bank and the provincial and federal governments, the city had been able to finance various relief undertakings and also cope with a deficit in 1931.

Mayor Knott scored the present method of handling relief, which he termed the dole in aggravated form. He had the greatest sympathy for the unfortunate unemployed but the system of direct relief was not the best way to deal with the problem.

The mayor praised the splendid coöperation of the city council during a trying period. He said that for 99 per cent of the time, there were no politics; everyone worked together for the common good.

BOOSTS NOT KNOCKS

Mayor Knott pleaded for people to help the city by boosting instead of knocking and predicted that Edmonton would emerge from this crisis as she had emerged from others.

One citizen wanted to know if Superintendent Cunningham did away with one boiler, should he be called "the greatest superintendent ever known?"

Mayor Knott thereupon gave a brief resume of the various steps taken to modernize the power plant and said the city had been saved money.

A question wih regard to what was being done for burgesses who were unemployed and thus unable to pay taxes, brought the reply from the mayor that no unemployed burgess who had been unable to pay taxes, had been compelled to turn his property over to the city.

Commissioner Mitchell then commenced a rapid-fire summary of various problems facing the city and reviewing the work of the various departments during the year. He stressed the point that all city employees are ready and willing to give service to citizens at all times and that they would always be glad to confer with any citizens on various problems coming up.

The commissioner said that one problem facing the city was the matter of meeting interest payments in New York funds, with the rate of exchange working a great hardship.

CALLED TO ORDER

The only hitch at the meeting occurred when one excited citizen in front rose to his feet and said that the commissioner "Was all up in the air and didn't know what he was talking about." He was sternly called to order by the chairman, however, while the audience also voiced its disapproval of the discourtesy.

One pointed question was asked about how many men who are already civic employees, are to be placed on the election staff. The commissioner said he did not have this information but would check it Wednesday.

Another question was asked with regard to the overhead of H. F McKee's office as special relief administrator, and it was stated that the amount was $35,000 to the end of September—that is, administration expense only.

Aldermen Gibbs, Sheppard and Findlay addressed the meeting for a few minutes after Commissioner Mitchell had finished.

FOUR DIE FROM POISON ALCOHOL

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 2—Poison alcohol, the source of which authorities are still trying to trace, caused four deaths at the Hamilton General hospital during the past two weeks and another victim recovered, it was announced by Coroner Dr. J. A. Simpson last night.

Coroner Simpson said the authorities had purposely withheld information of the deaths in the hope a quiet probe might enable police to arrest the men responsible for circulating the death-dealing beverage.

The poisonous beverage was mixed with native wine, and sold in bootlegging establishments, according to Dr. Simpson. It was hoped that through the "retailers" the police would be able to discover who distilled and originally supplied the alcohol.

LONG PRISON TERMS GIVEN TO RUSTLERS

Three Men Plead Guilty to Cattle Thefts at Drumheller

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Nov. 2—Mysterious disappearance of cattle from ranches in the Wayne and Dorothy districts during 1929 and 1930 had its aftermath Tuesday when Fred G. Burke, of Carbon, John Ward, Wayne, and John Pettit, of Bassano, were each sentenced to jail terms after pleading guilty to several charges of theft of cattle and waiving rights for jury trial when they appeared before Magistrate O'Connor in Drumheller police court.

Since mid-December, 1929, the A. P. P. and later the R. C. M. P. followed various clews after complaints had been received from the Sheplar and Pattison ranches. Constable Detective Elvin, of Calgary, was detailed on the case and last week swore out warrants for the arrest of the three men after digging up a strong case.

After they were lodged in the cells at Drumneller it is understood that the three accused supplied police with further information which resulted in the arrest of Harry Bodenchuk, a butcher of Wayne, who will appear on Friday to answer to a charge of buying meat knowing it to be stolen. Bodenchuk is out on $4,000 bail. The three convicted men will be held here to give evidence against the alleged receiver.

Burk, who faced three charges, received sentences of three years, two years and six months, and two years and three months, sentences to run concurrently. Ward was sentenced to two years and nine months and two years and three months on two charges, while Pettit got a two-year sentence.

PLANES HALTED OVER PRISONS

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—The Mail and Empire in a despatch from its Ottawa correspondent today quoted J. A. Wilson, controller of civil aviation, as issuing an order forbidding operation of aircraft over Canadian penitentiaries.

The text of the order as carried by the newspaper is:

"Pilots and operators of aircraft are hereby warned to avoid flying over or near any penitentiary or like institution. In future any aircraft observed intentionally flying over such institutions for any purpose whatever will be considered to have committed an infringement of the air regulations concerning prohibited areas."

Attempt Foiled To Rob Prime Minister M'Donald

LONDON, Nov. 2.—What was believed to be an attempt to rob Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald or his house was revealed in a case in Hampstead police court today.

Ivan Seruva, described as a British subject, was arraigned on a charge of loitering at the Prime Minister's home. He was arrested, police said, in the garden of Mr. Macdonald's house at three a.m.

Mr. Macdonald rarely uses his lodge at Forgnal, near Hampstead while parliament is in session, preferring to remain in his official residence at No. 10 Downing street. The head of the National cabinet was believed to have been at Forgnal last night, however, during the disturbance in Whitehall.

Seruva is a well-dressed, thickset youth, who speaks English with a foreign accent. He was carrying bricks under his arms when the police found him.

The prisoner said he had just entered the garden for a look around. He did not resist arrest.

BARBADOES RUM SHIP IS SEIZED

WOODS HOLE, Mass., Nov. 2.—A cargo of liquor valued by United tates coast guardsmen at $200,000, a ship and two power boats, were seized and 26 arrests made by guardsmen early today in New Bedford Harbor. The seizure was made off West Island, one mile from Purchase street in New Bedford. The vessel seized was the Amecitia out of Bridgetown, Barbadoes.

Maniu's Big Job

Here are the principal actors in the drama of motherhood that has set the royal courts agog. King Carol of Rumania is shown with his son, Prince Michael, whom he peremptorily ordered to return from London, where the boy was visiting his mother, Princess Helene, Carol's former wife (inset). The princess has charged her former husband with "bad faith and persecution" in breaking their agreement that Prince Michael should share his time with both parents. The job of reconciliation is the one Premier Maniu has undertaken.

Helen's Woes At End As Subjects Say 'Her Majesty'

Prince Michael to be Permitted Visits to Mother

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 2—Negotiations to settle the troubled relations between King Carol and his divorced wife, Princess Helen, were completed today.

The former queen gave a formal audience to Premier Juliu Maniu and foreign minister Nicholas Titulescu, and at its conclusion the government issued a communique in which Helen was referred to as "her majesty."

It was privately reported the government had agreed to permit Helen to visit Rumania whenever she desired providing she gave notice of her plans in order that a residence might be arranged for her.

Prince Michael, it was understood, will be allowed to visit his mother abroad one month during each vacation period, but they must spend this time in Switzerland.

The government also is understood to have consented to pay Helen 15,000,000 lei (about $90,000) due her from the sale of her castle Mamain on the Black Sea.

MYSTERY CLOAKS OTTAWA DEATH

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—Norman Atkinson, 31, died in hospital last night from a bullet wound inflicted under unknown circumstances at Montebello, Que. An inquest has been ordered. Atkinson was found in the engineering offices of the Seigneury club, Lucerene-in-Quebec, with a handkerchief pressed into his face and a found from a .22 calibre revolver bullet in his forehead. A revolver was found nearby.

He was rushed to hospital here and died after an operation for removal of the bullet.

He was a gold medallist and a graduate of the University off Saskatchewan.

Information received here indicated Atkinson was alone in one of the rooms of the engineering quarters. It is claimed none of the employees in the adjoining room heard the shot, but they entered and found the wounded man standing and holding the handkerchief to his face.

THE oldest Turk, Zaro Agha, returns home to Istanbul after wandering in America and Europe for two years, collecting money.

He believes that he is 156 years old, and he is probably far beyond 100. His wife, past eighty, pulled her veil over her face when she saw him coming in European clothing, not believing that he could be the same man in such strange garb.

When she saw it was really he, she gave bread to all the stray dogs in the neighborhood, in thanksgiving for his safety.

Clothes make a difference. Some savages that once wore only breech cloths, and now wear civilized coats and trousers, still wear the breech cloth under the trousers. Their theory is that if you lack a breech cloth you are not decently dressed.

The first automobiles had dashboards. It is hard to change a habit.

MANY young Chinese, influenced supposedly by propaganda from Russia, have joined the "Communist Youth Corps".

Canton's government, which intends to make Communism uncomfortable, yesterday executed three young women and 22 young men, simply because they were Communists.

FRENCH brokers, who work hard for business, will hereafter keep the Paris "Bourse," which is the French stock exchange, open until half-past three in the afternoon, giving them thirty minutes of New York quotations, to speculate or invest in New York's market "on the same day."

THE wheat news is not good for the Republican party. Yesterday in Chicago the price of wheat fell to a "new all-time low" price. For the Republicans, the price of wheat dropping is like temperature rising for a sick child.

Another "low" was the price of money "on call." If you felt like speculating in stocks yesterday you could borrow all you wanted at one per cent. Loans outside the stock exchange were made at three-quarters of one per cent.

All this will seem strange in days to come when those that will not buy now begin buying at higher prices and the gambling craze starts up again.

LABOR SCORES BIG GAINS IN ENGLISH VOTE

No Notable Change in the Control of Councils Revealed

LONDON, Nov. 2—Results in 85 of more than 300 municipalities in England, Scotland and Wales where elections were held Tuesday showed the Labor party was the only group to register a net gain despite the fact it was decisively beaten in last year's Conservative landslide.

Returns available showed Labor had gained 61 seats on municipal councils and lost 46 for a net gain of 15. Conservatives gained 29 but lost 31. Liberals gained 14 and lost 20, while independents gained 15 and lost 16.

LABOR LOSES SHEFFIELD

Incomplete results failed to show any notable change in control of councils. Labor lost control of Sheffield in the steel district by dropping two seats, but gained a bare majority in Jarrow by adding one place on council to its strength. In Heston Isleworth, a new London borough, Labor had 12 members, the largest group, but the presence of three members of the Ratepayers' Association in addition to nine Conservatives, left the position uncertain. Barnes, another new London borough, returned 19 independents and five Laborites.

Labor lost control of another council when the Leyton electorate gave Conservatives an additional two seats, enough to provide them with a majority. The Conservatives also gained two seats in Walthamstow, but Labor maintained control. In West Ham, Labor lost a seat, but already had an overwhelming majority. Here Will Thorne and Jack Jones, Labor members of the House of Commons, retained their seats by defeating Independent Labor party candidates.

CONSERVATIVES WIN

Liverpool and Manchester again voted Conservative majorities, and in Manchester Labor lost four seats.

Labor gained three seats in Birmingham, Ipswich, Southampton and Hull, four in Sunderland and five in Leeds. In no instance, however, was the gain sufficient to give them a majority. In Blackburn and Newcastle they lost three and in Leicester and Bristol two.

In Wales, Cardiff and Newport retained conservative administrations while at Merttyr, a strong Labor centre, the Labor majority was increased by two seats.

In Glasgow the Moderates, opposed to the Labor party, were assured of a majority of at least 20. There were 125 candidates here for 35 seats. Independent Labor party candidates gained two seats from Labor.

So far there had been no defeats of retiring members but voting was featured to a slump in Labor totals as compared with those of the Independent Labor party, while the Scottish Protestant League in addition to gaining a seat in Glasgow, polled a heavy vote elsewhere.

Community League Meeting November 2

An adjourned annual meeting of the Jasper Place and Westgrove Community League will be held at the Jasper Place school next Wednesday night, November 2, at eight o'clock sharp, to receive reports from the league officials, and a statement of assets and liabilities. Only members with fees paid to October 31, 1932, or new members, 18 years of age or over, with fees paid for the year ending October 31, 1933, are entitled to vote. Fees may be paid prior to the election of officers.

SNOW BLANKET COVERS CITY; WEATHER MILD

More Than Inch of Snow Falls Here During Night

Over an inch of snow fell during the night. Starting at 10:30 Tuesday evening, the snow, dry and powdery, fell steadily until 2.00 a.m. this morning, the total fall being 1¼ inches.

A brisk wind, reaching a velocity of over 15 miles an hour, caused the snow to drift, the swirling flakes eddying about the buildings of downtown Edmonton.

Wednesday morning the streets of the city were slippery, causing some difficulty to drivers. No serious accidents were reported, however, and city trucks were busy scattering cinders in the busier sections.

The highest temperature yesterday was 37 degrees, at 2:00 p.m. The night was comparatively warm, the mercury at no time registering below 30 degrees. At 9:00 a.m. today the temperature was steady at 30 degrees.

The forecast Wednesday morning was for continued moderately cold weather with probably more snow. The barometer reading was 27.25 decreasing.

Chief Of Police Lauds Parents For Hallowe'en Help

"I want to thank parents of children in the city here who helped to make Hallowe'en safe and sane, this year," said Chief of Police A. G. hute Wednesday morning when complete reports showed that no material damage had been done Monday night.

"A splendid spirit of citizenship was shown," said the chief, "and the conduct of youth was most commendable."

The chief also extends his thanks to all those who aided his force Monday night in keeping law and order in the city.

"They went easy on the fire department, too," announced Fire Chief Albert Dutton. "Five false alarms is a new low record of trouble for the boys on Hallowe'en nights."

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

MAKE A JOB OF IT

When it is taking steps to deodorize the new incinerator, or to move it to some less obnoxious location, the city council should consider the abatement of another nuisance from which the residents of the same district have suffered for some time.

Sewage station number 4, it is claimed, rivals the incinerator in the profusion and variety of smells which emanate from it or are allowed to get past it. If it really rivals the incinerator, nothing more need be said on that branch of the subject.

Council should take the whole situation on the flats in hand, and make a job of righting matters. The complaint about sewage there is older than the incinerator. If what is said about their combined efforts is true, there is involved a menace to public health, as well as the comfort of the residents, and fair-dealing with a large body of tax-payers.

With thousands of relief men on the list, this is a time when urgent improvements such as these should be made. They can be made now at a reduction in cost that will off-set any increase in interest charges on the money needed.

DISTRIBUTE THE BONDS

The Dominion issue of $25,000,000 of short term bonds was snapped up in two hours, while $15,000,000 of the long term bonds were subscribed during the day.

With the bonds so keenly in demand, the small investor in a remote part of the Dominion may not get a "look in." Life insurance companies and other large corporations with headquarters in the eastern cities got in their applications early, some of them before the books were opened.

If these large orders are filled, the individual in far western or far eastern Canada who hoped to invest his savings in these safe securities will be disappointed. That should not be permitted. The bonds should be allocated with a view to placing them in the greatest number of hands, distributed as widely as possible over the Dominion.

If the Government is to go on borrowing money, instead of simply issuing it, the individual of small means is entitled to a fair chance, and even to something of a preference, when an issue is being sold. Nor should his geographical location be allowed to interfere with his chance to get a share of the "melon."

The man of limited means has also very limited opportunities for safe investment. He is not as a rule a financial expert, and should be encouraged to put his money in public securities rather than in ventures he knows not of. And the greater the number of Government bondholders, the greater the number of voters who will stand steadily for moderation in expenditure.

THESE ALSO LOSE

Net earnings of the C.P.R. during September show an increase of 20 per cent over the figures for September of last year.

That will make pleasant reading for the shareholders, and they need it. It will be gratifying to the public as well, though their feeling will be modified by the reflection that to some extent the gain is the result of diversion of traffic from the Canadian National.

To that extent the general exultation will be offset by feeling of another kind when the deficit of the publicly-owned system is announced.

That factor aside, the substantial betterment can be accounted for. During September Canada exported 28,000,000 bushels of wheat, against 16,000,000 bushels last year. Freight rates on wheat have not gone down in the meantime, while operating expenses have. And the 28,000,000 bushels shipped out of the country does not represent the total wheat traffic handled by the railways. They also moved enormous quantities to central storage points and terminal ports.

The railways and the railwaymen need oversea markets for wheat, quite as really as do the farmers who grow the wheat. In these depressed years the only time the railways are relatively busy and the railwaymen regularly employed is when the wheat movement is on.

A national policy that would sell wheat abroad would put dividends in the pockets of railway share-holders and wages in the pockets of railway employees.

IT HAS BEEN LOWER

Here is encouraging news, of the negative kind. Some explorer in the field of statistics has discovered that in 1286 and 1287 wheat sold in Edinburgh for 9 cents a bushel. The then and there current price of oat-meal is not stated.

Thus the recent "loss of altitude" that wheat has undergone has not really brought it to new low levels. They are new lows for Canada since the Winnipeg grain exchange was organized, thirty odd years ago, but not for the world. The price may have been even less than 9 cents a bushel when Joseph was gathering in the bumper crops in Egypt and getting ready to skin the bears.

The weakness in this kind of "encouragement" of course is that we are not living in the conditions of 1286, nor those of ancient Egypt. We have made some changes in the ways of living in the meantime, changes which we think it desirable to maintain, but which cannot be supported on 9 cent wheat, nor on the present price of 28 cent wheat.

The question is whether, with all the other progress that has been made, we have succeeded or can succeed in adjusting the price of wheat to the cost of our modern ways of living. If we have not and cannot do that the conclusion seems to be painfully obvious; we shall have to go back to simpler and less desirable ways.

But before conceding defeat and taking the back track, we might at least try the experiment of breaking away from the time-discounted gold standard, and consent to do business with the world in the currency with which our prospective customers can pay for our wheat. Even Joseph did that when he found that his customers had no more gold. He took whatever they had to give him.

Poems That Live

A PRAYER

I kneel not now to pray that thou
Make white one single sin—
I only kneel to thank thee, Lord,
For what I have not been.

For deeds which sprouted in my heart
But ne'er to bloom were brought,
For monstrous vices which I slew
In the shambles of my thought—

Dark seeds the world has never guessed
By hell and passion bred,
Which never grew beyond the bud
That cankered in my head.

Some said I was a righteous man—
Poor fools! The gallow's tree
(If thou hadst let one foot to slip)
Had grown a limb for me.

So for the Man I might have been
My heart must cease to mourn—
'Twere best to praise the living Lord
For monsters never born,

To bend the spiritual knee
(Knowing myself within)
And thank the kind benignant God
For what I have not been.

THE MAYORALTY

Editor Bulletin: Why I support "Kenny" Blatchford for Edmonton's next mayor:—

(1) He has a personality that fits him for the job.

(2) He is aggressive and energetic; has the "punch" and will fight for our rights.

(3) He is out to reduce taxes, reduce the street railway fares and improve the street railway service.

(4) He will find useful work for our unemployed to pay their "keep."

(5) He will immediately put the power plant in full operation, putting thousands of dollars in circulation here that would otherwise go south and east to help the power barons. This would help in hundreds of ways to keep our business places goiong and at the same time keep many people out of the bread line. Self-preservation is the first law. The stockholders of the power trust are able to take care of themselves. We don't need to worry about them.

(6) He was tried out before, both as mayor and councilman and filled the bill. He will repeat if elected.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

THE WAGE QUESTION

Editor Bulletin: My attention was directed today to a plank in the platform of the Labor party on which they will seek election and re-election to the city council. This is the wording: "Work at union wages for all unemployed." This is the plank that is supposed to get the votes. This then is the platform of the men who ask us to install them at the city hall to economically manage our affairs, spend our hard-earned taxes.

Here we are in a farming country, where the basic industry is agriculture in all its branches, where those engaged in the basic industry, on which every other industry depends, are barely making a living. Will some one explain to me what relationship exists between farming and union wages?

I can understand when the farmer sells $1 wheat why the carpenter, the painter, the barber and the common laborer should be well paid for their services. The unions explain all that to me, but when the basic industry goes below low water mark, where does the union lead?

I will not say that unions have not done a great deal for labor. We all know they have, but look what fire does for our bread and pastry, and how closely it must be watched or both are overdone.

Is not that the trouble now? Our unions have overdone the whole works. Is it not true if wages were cut on our railways and at our mines and all along the line we would be shipping thousands of tons of coal to Manitoba and Ontario, and the increease in business would gradually start wages on the upturn again?

Yes, but my friend says, mining is dangerous work and must be paid accordingly. Not necessarily. In a crisis men have done very dangerous work for $1.10 per day, and in no greater crisis than exists today.

Is it not a fact that hundreds of men are drawing down big salaries in Canada today who if for any reason were separated from their present positions would be a long time in finding another paying one-third of what they are today receiving?

No class knows better than labor that any fallen structure must be repaired from the bottom. Work at union wages (whatever that means) for all unemployed; not while there's only food and clothing for those engaged in the basic industry of the country.

We are due for an adjustment. Will we get it at the hands of a labor council, with the above plank in their platform?

EX-MINER.

Quite Satisfied

The trade agreement between Great Britain and Australia has resulted in a considerable reduction of the Australian treaty. There is no doubt of it, the proof being furnished by the heated objections of the protected interests and the resignation of Mr. Fenton, the postmaster-general, in protest. The Australasian, of Melbourne, speaks of the "infuriated ravings of those who pretend to believe that the Ottawa delegates made an agreement with Great Britain advantageous to Australia without reciprocal concessions."

The fixing of a definite period for the operation of the agreement which is attacked in Great Britain by the free-traders on the ground that it limits the freedom of parliament, is also a matter of controversy, the protectionist newspaper, the Age, denouncing the view that the agreement "is something fixed and unmutable." It is, it claims, subject to review, saying:—

"For the present the agreement represents the ideas of two ministerial delegates concerning the extent to which Australia is prepared to retard industrial development in return for such concessions as they have obtained. It was never suggested that the delegates were invested with plenipotentiary powers. In such circumstances it is preposterous to suggest that there can be no review of the agreement short of rejection, and talk of loyalty, honor, and gratitude is puerile piffle."

No minister in Canada has found it necessary to resign as a protest against any breach in our protectionist fortress; nor is there a single peep out of any of our high-tariff newspapers. They are all perfectly satisfied with the situation.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A colored boy visited a farmer's henroost and suddenly the hens began to cackle and flutter. The farmer appeared with a shotgun.

"Who's in there?" he called. No answer.

"Who's in there?" he called a second time.

Again he called and receiving no answer, he prepared to shoot. Then the negro came to life.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cowper

Ability commands respect wherever it is displayed. Today I had an opportunity to see the new redistribution areas, shown on a map of British Columbia, as passed at the last session of the Legislature by the Tolmie government.

Other provincial governments seeking to hang onto office could study it with profit. No government that could command a majority to pass such a redistribution bill needs to form a union government. It should pass another bill disfranchising everybody who refuses to vote for itself.

* * *

Reduction in the size of the Legislature, recommended in the Kidd report, was not anticipated in the Tolmie redistribution bill. As a matter of fact, the B. C. Legislature is the smallest in western Canada. It had but 48 members and the redistribution bill merely cuts that figure down to 47 by depriving the constituency of Columbia of separate representation. Columbia is now joined to the Revelstoke constituency. Columbia, you will remember, recently refused to support the government. It looks like cause and effect, especially as Columbia and Revelstoke lie on opposite sides of the Selkirk Range and a trip through the mountains is necessary to visit either from the other.

* * *

There are strange dips and jogs in the new boundaries to drop off or take in unwanted or needed polling divisions. In one case, the Dewdney riding, which lies to the north of the Fraser river, is made to cross the river to take in the faithful at the appropriately named town of Hope. The strangest geographical monstrosity is a wide lane run across Vancouver Island to attach the town of Nanaimo to the west coast riding of Alberni. Alberni and Nanaimo each sent Liberals to the Legislature. Now they can't send more than one.

* * *

Always there has been rivalry between the Rocky mountain constituencies and those on the lower mainland where half the population of the province is settled. Long ago it chrystallized itself into a battlecry heard in the caucus rooms "The mountains against the coast." It will not be calmed down by taking away the Columbia representation and adding it to give Greater Vancouver a boost from eight to nine members.

Even as between the coast cities of Vancouver and Victoria there is a strange disparity of representation. Greater Vancouver, which cast 126,000 votes in the last federal election, has nine members now, or one to 14,000. Victoria, which cast 25,000 votes, will have four members, or one to 6250. No doubt the Solons at Victoria consider one Victoria brain to be slightly better than two Vancouver brains.

* * *

Credit for the very successful gerrymander—one Victoria Conservative member was rude enough and ungrateful enough to term it "an abortion"—goes to the Minister of Education, the Hon. and Rev. Mr. Hinchliffe.

Mr. Hinchliffe held canonical rank as a churchman before becoming a lawyer and a politician. He is triply endowed for the task he has so well performed. Prairie premiers hard driven to hold office against the rising tide of political adversity might study with profit Mr. Hinchliffe's maiden attempt at carving up the province into more palatable portions.

* * *

Some of the boys are having fun over the attempt of the mortgagees of the good ship Simon F. Tolmie to find a buyer. Broad in the beam and bluff in the bow, the Simon F. Tolmie was built of B. C. wood in a Victoria shipyard in the latter days of the war, at a time when Dr. Tolmie was serving as federal minister of agriculture.

The Tolmie has been rather a failure, and some of the Liberals facetiously try to point out resemblances between the ship and the politician.

* * *

A gifted politician was lost to the age when Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt became assistant Attorney-General of the United States, and later chief counsel for the Fruit Industries Inc. of California.

Mabel was very effective as a campaigner before ministerial and prohibition bodies, and in office was a rigorous prosecutor of those who broke the dry laws of United States.

Fruit Industries Inc. of California wanted to put out a fruit brick from which one could make port, champagne or sherry at will. There was a big market for the stuff if it could be sold without interference from the federal authorities. The concern bought up Mrs. Willebrandt with an offer of a position as chief counsel at a handsome salary.

Mrs. Willebrandt accepted, and under her counselship, fruit bricks, by the million, were sold to the jag-loving American public.

* * *

A very artful dodge was employed to sell the jag-creating fruit bricks and keep within the law. A printed instruction sheet was supplied of warnings. Buyers were "warned" that if they left the concoction of fruit brick and water for so many hours at a certain temperature it would develop an alcoholic drink of so much per cent, and that if they added so much sugar and used apparatus of a certain kind, they were "warned" that the resulting wine would have so much per cent greater added alcoholic content.

To make sure that the "warnings" were properly understood, demonstration booths were opened to show customers what not to do, under the representation that if they did these things, the wine would be intoxicating "with a 100 per cent kick to it."

According to Al Smith, the lady not only convinced the department of justice that the wine brick with the list of warnings of how not to make a 12 per cent alcoholic wine was perfectly legal, but she induced the Farm Loan Board to lend the fruit brick people $20,000,000 to finance the production and sale of the fruit bricks.

Mabel may have succeeded in making the Volstead Act and the Eighteenth Amendment look like thirty cents, but she managed to get more than a thirty cent fee for doing it.

* * *

There's no sense in saying what we'd have done had we been in Mabel's place and been offered a colossal fee to change from enforcing the Volstead Act to making a monkey of it. The story of the girl at the party applies.

An eligible young man offering his opinion on some problems of matrimony, said he thought it would be better if people were to drop party manners on the honeymoon and act as they intended to act normally.

"For instance," he said, "I like a cigar. When I marry I would propose to pull a cigar out of my pocket after luncheon on the first day of our married life, and light up."

"And I," said a high spirited debutante who was listening in, "would as promptly knock it out of your mouth."

Said the young man coldly, "Really, I don't think you will be there."

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

THE CAUSE AND CURE OF TONSIL TROUBLE

Wrong diet is the main cause of tonsil trouble as an excess of starches and sugars is directly responsible for this disease. In this regard I am going to quote Sir W. Arbuthnot Lane, consulting physician to King George V of England, and whose opinion on this subject entirely agrees with my own: "It is a great pity that most parents do not appreciate the close connection between diet and morbid enlargement of the tonsils and adenoids . . . . The reason is to be found in the excessive consumption of unnatural starchy foods."

I believe that practically 100% of all enlarged tonsils can be cured by dietetic treatment. The cure is quite simple and satisfactory in every way if the cause of the disease in the tonsils is removed by systematic treatment, as these glands will then return to their normal size and be clean and healthy.

To accomplish this rapidly the best plan is to forego all food except fruit juice and water until the glands have reduced materially in size. The colon should be cleansed by enemas and at least two sponge or shower baths taken daily. After five days of this regimen, the patient will be able to breathe freely with the mouth closed and, if there have been any large adenoids in the nasal passages, these would be much reduced at the same time.

You may expect remarkable results from the five day fast, particularly when the tonsils have been merely enlarged, but even when inflammation is present this will be greatly relieved. At the same time the enlarged neck glands should become smaller in size.

The diet following the fast should be free from starches or sugars for some time. Avoid bread, potatoes, rice, macaroni or pastries. It is the best plan for those who suffer from enlarged tonsils to give up the use of milk until they are completely cured of their trouble.

Try to provide an abundance of the alkaline elements which are found in the raw salads and cooked non-starchy vegetables. One with a tendency to tonsil disorders usually suffers from over-acidity of the blood stream and should make a decided effort to use a diet rich in the alkaline elements which will counteract this.

It is often advisable to treat the tonsils locally with the ultra violet ray, especially in cases of patients past maturity where the crypts are greatly enlarged and the glands are ragged from long-continued disease.

I have on hand two articles for those with tonsil disorders which I will be glad to send you. If you desire the one for children, which gives a diet to follow after the fast, ask for "Save the Tonsils" enclosing one three-cent stamp with your self-addressed, large envelope. If you wish the one for adults, ask for "Tonsil Trouble" and also for the Mucus Cleansing Diet, which gives the fast and diet to be used, and be sure to send a self-addressed envelope, also two three-cent stamps.

If anyone in your family has a tendency to tonsil trouble, I would suggest that you send for my articles. Follow the directions outlined and watch the tonsils improve. In this way you may avoid the colds, coughs, and sore throats which during the winter so often attack those with inflamed tonsils.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: B. J. M asys: "What causes the eyelashes, eyebrows, etc., to fall out and the eyelids to remain more or less inflamed?"

ANSWER: There is a disease called blepharitis which affects the glands and folicles of the eyelashes with itching and scaling. The usual causes are: unhygienic surroundings, acidosis exposure to dust, gas, fumes, lack of sleep, lack of cleanliness of the eyes, nasal affections, and the need of glasses. Of course, there are a number of other diseases which may affect the eyelashes in the manner you describe, but I could not determine this without an examination. Only an examination would tell whether the condition is caused by local disease or some systemic affection, as from the thyroid gland, etc.

Horoscope

By Mary Blake

If November 3rd is the date of your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p.m. to 2:15 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger hours are from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to 3:45 p.m.

November 3rd influences will tend to induce a feeling of unrest in most people. Business activity in most fields will probably be both fitful and fretful with a general feeling with the coming of night that little has been accomplished. Business and social ventures embarked upon on this November 3rd will be of uncertain outcome. In the home, irritating and disturbing influences of a petty nature will be apparent.

The child born on this November 3rd will probably have a rocky road to travel due either to his inability or unwillingness to consider the wants and feelings of those about him. More than just a trace of selfishness will be found in his character. The child will be possessed of a happy nature and inclined to exaggeration and to extravagances in his speech.

If November 3rd is the date of your birth, you are probably motivated in all that you do with a desire to be outstanding, to excel. You do not seek necessarily wealth or power, but it appeases your vanity to be pointed out as the person who has done this, or accomplished that, with great success. Unless you find yourself doing some creative work or occupying a position of many and various duties you will probably not remain long in any one line of work. You are not a rolling stone at all, but you must always be doing something new, and if possible, something different than the ordinary run of work.

Your outstanding fault is probably the unfailing habit of "airing your own views" on any subject whatsoever. Your conversation, more often than not about yourself and what YOU think, is rarely brilliant, usually dull and boring. Occasionally you forget yourself, and at these times your friends and business associates are given a glimpse of a much finer you. On these occasions you show yourself to be fundamentally kind and considerate of others, interested in the welfare of people as a whole, more than willing to lend a helping hand and all in all a most pleasant person to be with. Why not try more to cultivate this seldom seen self?

GOLD DIGGINGS WORKED AGAIN

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Nov. 2.—Virtually abandoned since the more riotous days of the gay, gold mining nineties, diggings in the Swauk area are being worked again by miners from all over the west, encouraged by a find of $10,000 in one small pocket.

Two weeks ago Ollie Jordin struck a rich pocket two feet long and 18 inches wide. Since that time, Jordin has turned over 26¼ pounds of pure gold to a bank to be shipped to the government assay office.

The metal is heavy wire gold and so pure it will not need refining. In addition Jordin has placed in vaults many fruit jars filled with gold, not quite so pure, and 300 pounds of rock, containing heavy gold.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

—By DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2—At last Old Man Depression—to whom we were introduced some time ago and now call familiarly by his first name—is having a marked effect upon the production of motion pictures.

Those high society sex films with which the market has been pretty well flooded are going to be put in cold storage for the next year at least—maybe longer.

That, anyway, is the opinion of Sam Katz, production chief of the Paramount studio. And Katz already has made his opinion a rule for his company's production plans for the coming year.

* * *

"With people out of work and those who still have jobs receiving salary cuts and wondering how much longer they are going to hold those jobs, I don't believe they want to go into a theatre and see money scattered around like it was so much waste paper," Katz declares. "Consequently our program for the coming year is comprised largely of comedies, light melodramas, travel and adventure films and a few simple love stories."

* * *

The husbands of the two Bennett sisters, Gene Markey and the Marquis de la Falaise, have just finished writing a story together—such a good story in fact that both Connie and Joan want to play in it. Unfortunately, however, they work for different studios—which probably means that the business-like husbands will sell to the highest bidder.

* * *

If George Raft ever is handed two leading ladies for one of his pictures, he's going to be right up a tree. Like so many of the young leading men who come into pictures, George apparently hasn't learned yet that wooing should stop when the cameras do.

A few weeks ago it was Constance Cummings whom he was escorting this place and that. Then he went into a new picture with Shirley Grey as his leading lady. Now she is the one seen with him in the various places film folk are seen. Incidentally, what has happened to Matty Kemp? He was powerfully interested in Shirley not so long ago.

SHIPPERS AND MILLERS ARE NOT CERTAIN

Rules of Canada Grain Export Via U.S. Ports Hazy

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Financial News in an editorial today said the government's rejection of an amendment to the Ottawa agreements bill which would have given Canadian wheat consigned to the United Kingdom from the United States the same preference as wheat consigned from Canada left the shipping and milling trades in "complete uncertainty."

The amendment, moved by J. Sandeman Allen, Conservative, and vice-president of the Association of the British Chambers of Commerce, was defeated in the house of commons last night 247 to 55. It suggested grain consigned from American ports be granted preferential treatment if it were certified by a Canadian government officer to have been grown in Canada.

Bonded Wheat May Get Preference

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Officials of the New York grain handling ports of Albany and Buffalo had little comment to offer tonight regarding Canadian wheat shipments to the United Kingdom and the manner in which they must be routed to be entitled to the six-cent per bushel preference under the Imperial conference agreement.

An Albany port authority said most Dominion grain trans-Atlantic bond via that point was handled in bond and as he interpreted the agreement, this would not disallow it collecting the preference. He pointed to the statement Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, New York superintendent of public works, made regarding the state barge canal before a legislative committee today. Col. Greene told the committee some of the grain elevators dotting the cross-state canal route "Haven't had enough grain in them to choke a sparrow."

Col. Greene also told the committee a large part of the canal's export traffic was Canadian grain, going through in bond.

Port ofifcials at Buffalo declined to comment until the grain preference agreement was thoroughly understood there.

Visible Supply In Canada To Be Increased

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—J. F. Jackson of the Norris Grain Company, one of Chicago's largest export houses, said last night the chief effect of refusing British tariff preference to Canadian wheat shipped through the United States on direct consignment would be to cut down trade through United States ports and increase the visible supply in Canada. He believed it would have no important influence on prices in the United States.

Railroads and elevators in the United States, Jackson said, would doubtless lose revenue from Canadian wheat traffic which has heretofore move dthrough Buffalo, Duluth and other lake ports to Atlantic seaboard points as far south as Baltimore.

At present there is about 18,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in the United States awaiting an outlet overseas, he said.

Montreal Shippers Are Still In Doubt

MONTREAL, Nov. 2—The Gazette today publishes the following:

"Despite the general interpretation of cable despatches from London that only Canadian wheat actually shipped to the United Kingdom from a Canadian port would be entitled to the six-cent per bushel preference to be accorded by the British government, there seemed to be considerable doubt here yesterday afternoon in grain and transportation circles as to the true purport of this information. Political verbiage appeared to have beclouded the issue, and a definite statement on this very important situation was being awaited.

"There was no doubt in the minds of the Canadian cabinet ministers attending the Imperial economic conference that the flow of Canadian wheat should be diverted from American to Canadian ports almost exclusively, in the opinion of one transportation man."

20 TEETH—$73,000!

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—The big question in superior court is: "Are 20 teeth worth $73,000?" Mrs. Sarah Arundel sued L. A. Turk for $20,000, arguing that she lost 20 teeth in a collision between her car and that of Turk's. Mrs. Bessie L. Galbraith sued the Los Angeles Junction Railway at the same time for $53,000 for the loss of 16 teeth in a crash between her car and a locomotive.

Development of grain growing is bringing to Vanderhoof, a town in central British Columbia, the first grain elevator in the region and the first to be erected between Jasper-Alberta, and Prince Rupert.

AMUSEMENTS

PRINCESS

"Attorney for the Defense," Columbia picture featuring Edmund Lowe in the role of a brilliant criminal lawyer, is the fourth production in which Lowe and Irving Cummings have been assigned as star and director.

Their first was "Dressed to Kill." It was followed by "In Old Arizona" and "The Cisco Kid." All these pictures were highly successful. Lowe declares that his present characterization, showing today at the Princess theatre, is the strongest role of his screen career.

EMPRESS

Painting a new and realistic type of romance against a South Sea background, the production "The Painted Woman," is proving exceptionally popular with local theatregoers at the Empress theatre where it is showing for the last times today. Spencer Tracy as an adventurous pearl fisher and Peggy Shannon as a disillusioned girl of the Far East have the leading roles. John Blystone directed.

Opening Thursday at the Empress is a fine double feature program. There are mystery thrills and sinister intrigues in "Thirteen Women," with Irene Dunne and Richard Cortez while Zane Grey's great story "The Golden West" also promises to be entretaining.

STRAND

"The Phantom President," political comedy featuring George M. Cohan, Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Durante, which opened today at the Strand theatre, will continue its run there through until and inculding Saturday.

The picture marks the debut of Cohan, for a quarter of a century a leading figure in the American theatre, in talking pictures.

In it he plays two roles—a presidential candidate and a medicine-show barker.

Clever campaign managers discover the medicine-show barker, and hire him to impersonate the candidate until election day. When he gets to work, voters rally in ever-increasing numbers to the candidate's standard, and it looks like a sure walkaway for him until a dramatic, if amusing, rift develops between the two men who look alike.

CAPITOL

Time honored customs in Congress such as the hazing of recalcitrant newcomers, the Senate ceremony accompanying the swearing in of a new lawmaker, and a hundred and one little details unknown to the general public come to the screen in "The Washington Masquerade," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's dramatic story of national politics opening a three day engagement at the Capitol theatre today. In addition, inside details of the "lobbyist racket" showing how outside influences constantly seek to sway the opinions of lawmakers, how women and other bait are used to trap them, and how the lobbyists work, are shown in this unusual drama in which Lionel Barrymore heads an elaborate cast. Karen Morley plays opposite Barrymore and the cast also includes the new screen "find" Diane Sinclair, Nils Asther, Reginald Barlow, William Collier, St., William Morris, Rafaela Ottiano, C. Henry Gordon, Burton Churchill and Henry Kolker.

RIALTO

"Those We Love," a picture based on the successful stage play by George Abbott and S.K. Lauren is showing at the Rialto theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The cast with the leading roles handled by Mary Aster, Kenneth MacKenna, Lilyan Tashman and Hale Hamilton, includes also Tommy Conlon, Bert Roach, Earle Foxe, Josephine Dunn, Gertrude Short and many other popular names in the supporting roles.

One of the most exhilirating westerns seen to date is on the screen at the Rialto theatre as the added feature on the same program. Here is something different different. Enveloping all the old-time western features, plus the usual Maynard personality, "Come On, Tarzen" has an added attraction in that the star shares honors with his famous horse, Tarzan.

STRAND

In "Here We Are Again," which The Dumbells will present at the Strand theatre all next week commencing with a matinee on Monday afternoon, Capt. M. W. Plunkett has what eastern critics have been unanimous in declaring to be the very finest production ever staged by and with this famous organization.

The selection of songs featuring Al Plunkett, Harry Binns, Don Romaine, Andre Carline and Irene Fox have come in for splendid praise, while the comedy antics of Pat Rafferty, Scotty Morrison and Curly Nixon are described as highly entertaining.

The dancing of Wilhelmina Teece, Glad Mumford, Helen McArthur and Marion Paul calls for special mention, and the ensemble work of the Dumbellettes is described as being little short of marvelous.

That Edmonton theatregoers intend to take full advantage of this joyous opportunity of seeing Canada's foremost entertainers at their very best—and at popular prices, has been evidenced by the busy line at the box office each day this week.

Capacity Audience Greets Western Artist at Recital

Helen Davies Sherry, Dramatic Soprano, Delights Hundreds

Music lovers of this city—and particularly those specially devoted to vocal art—fulfilled a long-anticipated desire on Tuesday evening when they journeyed to Robertson United Church and heard in recital, Helen Davies Sherry, noted Saskatoon dramatic soprano, who made her local debut. That her visit was an event was evidenced by the fact that the large auditorium was filled to capacity.

It was an evening most satisfying, as there was heard an artist of great ability, an artist mature in musical development and in the appreciation of the works of the composers she chose to interpret.

Also, to round out the performance Henry Atack was the assisting contributor, playing the visiting soloist's accompaniments with consummate artistry and himself giving several organ numbers that revealed gifts in this direction he has hitherto kept partially concealed.

WIDELY DIVERSIFIED PROGRAM

Mrs. Sherry chose a program of a widely diversified character and designed to cater to the infinite capacity of her vocal and artistic attainments.

The program included works by Schubert, Brahms, Verdi, Mendelssohn, Parry, Ronald, Dvorak and others.

Mendelssohn's "Hear Ye Israel" from "The Elijah" gave her splendid opportunities to reveal not only her artistic attainments but also color and variety of tone. Schubert's "Hark, Hark the Lark," "My Peace Thou Art", and "Margaret at the Spinning Wheel" all were beautifully done, while the same can be said of Brahms' "The Nightingale" and "The Smith."

Verdi's "Ernani, Ernani, Involami" lacked the felicitous, smooth-flowing quality of the other numbers, but nevertheless was a welcome contribution to the program. Parry's "My Heart Is Like a Singing Bird" was obviously not as well prepared as the rest of the program, but in Ronald's "Down In the Forest", Campbell-Tipton's "The Crying of Water" and Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" she was all that could be desired.

Encores included Evelyn Del Acqua's "Vilanelle" and the optimistic "All's Well With the World."

Mr. Atack played the Bach-Rummel "Mortify Us By They Grace," the first movement of the W. F. Bach-Stradel "Organ Concerto in D Minor" and the tremendous "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" in all of which he displayed a searching knowledge into both compositions and instrument, resulting in most satisfying and memorable performances.

PLA-MOR GIRLS HOLD PARTY

Members of the Pla-Mor Girls Club held a jolly Hallowe'en party at the home of Miss Margaret O'Connor on Monday evening, when colored streamers and novelties were used throughout the rooms. An interesting feature of the party was the tap dancing of Mr. Harold Van Buskick who gave several numbers.

The hostesses for the evening were: Miss Irene Keating, Miss Margaret Allen, Miss Margaret O'Connor, Miss Doris Reuter, Miss Agnes O'Neil, Miss Eleanor Tuffley, Miss Marguerite Pothier; Miss Helen Moreau, Miss Lillian Connelly, Miss Eva MacKenzie, Miss Phyllis Edwards.

DICKENSIANS HOLD DEBATE

After an interesting and very close debate on "Resolved, that Pip was justified in refusing to inherit from Magwood," members of the affirmative were voted winners by a close margin, by members of the Dickens Fellowship at their meeting Tuesday evening in the Institute of Applied Arts building. There were about seventy in attendance. Mr. Val Carey announced that the new geranium badges may now be secured, and that the autumn "Dickensian" was off the press and available. Mrs. Clifford Ridgeway was the soloist.

Irma Clow Raver Wins Award In Poetry Contest

Authors Ass'n Announces Results of Province-wide Competition

The following results have just been announced in connection with the 1932 Alberta Poetry Contest sponsored by the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. The winner of the first prize of ten dollars is Irma Clow Raver, 10247 124 street, Edmonton, with her fine effort, "Farewell To A Flyer." The second prize of five dollars was won by Agnes Aston Hill of Calgary with her splendid contribution "The Silent Courier." Third prize of three dollars goes to Miss Lotta Dempsey, 10025 106 street, Edmonton, who submitted "Prairie Woman's Chant."

Three other verses gained honorable mention: "To a Chinese Lily", by Agnes Aston Hill of Calgary; "Museums of the Deep", by Elizabeth Garbutt of Calgary, and "The Little Bridge of Trenton", by Georgia M. Cook, 10206 114 street, Edmonton.

Some twenty poems submitted in addition to the foregoing outstanding entries have been selected for the third edition of the Alberta Year Book of Poetry which the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Authors' Association hopes to have published before the end of November. The contest this year has proved an outstanding success, over 160 poems being entered from every part of the province. Contributions were of a high quality and it was particularly gratifying to note a growing tendency on the part of the poets to utilize the Alberta scene for their purposes. The following authors will be represented in the 1932 Year Book but the names are not arranged in any order of merit:

Marian E. Hornby, Calgary; Annette Thomas, Botha; Marion McFetridge, Consort; Tena Manser, Edmonton; Jean Souther, Edmonton; Spencer Freer, Calgary; Sara Carsley, Calgary; Edna Shore, Edmonton; Bertha M. Alexander, Vegreville; Gertrude Bannerman, Athabasca; Lena M. Bario, Lethbridge; B. E. Souther, Edmonton; Elizabeth Simpson, Medicine Hat; Leta R. Porter, Czar; Gertrude Shaw, Leduc; C. F. Retiring "Y" President Is Honor Guest

Mrs. D. S. McKenzie Receives Gifts From Fellow Workers

Mrs. D. S. MacKenzie, retiring president, of the Y. W. C. A., was honored by the life members of the association, the members of the board and of the staff of the "Y," when they gathered at her home in Garneau on Wednesday for a most delightful surprise party.

Prior to the arrival of the guests Mrs. MacKenzie was entertained at the home of Mrs. K. A. Clarke, one of the members of the board and during her mother's absence Miss Marjorie MacKenzie received the guests. Upon her return, Mrs. MacKenzie was greeted by her guests singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

On behalf of the members of the board, Mrs. James Adam, vice-president of the association, presented to Mrs. MacKenzie a silver basket of red roses and spoke in warm appreciation of the unselfish spirit in which Mrs. MacKenzie fulfilled the many obligations exacted by the work of the association, and of her untiring service and devotion which was given unstintingly to all fields and phases of "Y." work.

In her own charming manner Mrs. MacKenzie graciously acknowledged their gift and thanked her guests for their kindness and thoughtfulness, and spoke in appreciation of the splendid and faithful co-operation of the board.

Mrs. J. C. Bowen, past president of the Y. W. C. A., presented to Mrs. MacKenzie a life membership and pin in the association, and Mrs. Thomas Bellamy, who was the first president of the Y. W. C. A. in Edmonton, added her thanks and appreciation of Mrs. MacKenzie's service in the work of the "Y."

Tea was served, with Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Mrs. I. E. Hahn, and Mrs. H. W. White in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Thomas Bellamy and Miss A. G. Maddock shared honors at the tea table, which was gracefully appointed with rust colored 'mums and glowing yellow tapers. Mrs. W. J. Waid and Mrs. Jack Millar assisted in serving.

Labor Women To Help Candidates By Holding Teas

Miss Olive V. Hawe provided a delightful inspirational feature at meeting of the Edmonton Women's Canadian Labor Council at the home of Mrs. D. K. Knott on Tuesday evening, when she read Charles Rand Kennedy's play, "The Terrible Meek." Her sympathetic interpretation given in a well-modulated, pleasing voice brought out the three characters of the play in a most realistic manner. It was greatly appreciated by the Women's Council, who had as their guests Mrs. H. L. Seymour and Mrs. McConkey of the Women's Peace Group.

Three members of the Council, Mrs. Frank Bradley, 11536 95A street, Mrs. George Latham, 11317 91 street and Mrs. A. W. Allbright, 10063 93 street, offered their homes for a tea on Monday afternoon when the Labor candidates in the civic elections will address groups gathered in their homes. Plans were also made for providing lunches for helpers on election day.

A donation of $5.00 was made toward the Labor campaign fund.

Plans were made for holding a court whist drive on Friday evening, November 25, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Allbright, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Hogan were appointed to make arrangements. It was decided that the entire proceeds from card parties would be donated to the radio fund.

The Labor women also decided to help the membership-at-large branch of the Labor party in furnishing club rooms which have recently been offered for the use of these two groups.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

A resolution was passed urging a contributory scheme of unemployment insurance and a petition will be forwarded to the provincial and dominion governments. A resolution on state medicine was also unanimously endorsed.

The group decided to affiliate with the Edmonton branch, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

The delegates were invited to attend a tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Powers, 10961 127 street on Thursday afternoon, when the Labor candidates will speak.

The next educational meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Jones, 11929 88th street, on Tuesday, November 15.

St. Faith's A.Y. P.A. Will Hold Armistice Night

An enjoyable evening was spent on Monday, in St. Faith's Parish hall, when the A.Y.P.A. branch entertained St. Mark's branch at a Hallowe'en masquerade party. Many colorful costumes were displayed and prizes were won by Miss Vera Greene, Miss Mary Holloway, Mr. Arthur Potter and Mr. Bert Bladon. Several contests were also held, the prize-winner of one of these being Miss Violet Scott. The raffle was won by Keith Meiklejjohn, and the balloon dance by Leonard Veats and partner. After games and contests were over, refreshments were served and dancing finished the evening.

The next meeting of St. Faith's branch will be held on Monday, November 14th, when parents are given a cordial invitation as this will be Armistice night.

Social-Personal

We hear about the progress of science which they say will spread to every phase of life and living. Weary housewives sometimes look forward to the day when they can feed their family whole meals concentrated in one tiny capsule, to be swallowed with a glass of cold water—we suppose. That is one of the more dismal features of science, and somehow makes one think of the gustatory habbits of the Wogglebug, in the old favorite, "Oz."

But what shall we do when we go to tea and wish to have our fortunes told? Cakes and tea may be enjoyed, with scientific simplicity, but what about the tea cup reader? Is her fortune doomed?

It is not only the witch who reads the future in the criss cross signs of tea leaves whose day must vanish, for there is now a magnetic and electric fortune teller. One steps upon a narrow platform and seizes the two handles of the "future machine", and having deposited a penny in the slot waits while the magnetic currents from the physical being perform scientific reactions—or something scientific—within the mechanic fortune teller, until a printed card slides out on which is boldly recorded the weaknesses of one's character as well as one's charms, and in which the curtains of the future are unfolled and one's fortune is made clear.

Quite remarkable! So it is said. But where have gone all the warm human things that make fortune telling fun, whether it is believed or not.

What will become of the wide, green eyes of the crystal gazer, that half hypnotize one into a fearful belief, or the lank haired witch who makes expressive and mysterious signs with her lean brown hands, and the Gypsy in a red petticoat who fawns and begs you to cross her palm with silver. Science always claims its own.

Dr. & Mrs. Prust Entertain For Madame Sherry

Musical People Meet Guest Artist Following Recital

To meet Madame Helen Davies Sherry, dramatic soprano, whose concert had drawn a capacity audience to Robertson church, Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Prust entertained a number of musical people at their residence in 124 street on Tuesday evening, following the program. The guest of honor had made a lovely picture as she stood in the front of the church, her exquisitely designed Lido blue and silver lace gown and brocaded slippers in the same shades lending a particular charm to her personality. A beautiful bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums was presented to her. Quantities of potted plants and ferns were used to decorate the church and the audience was most appreciative. His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Walsh attended and the audience was an interesting and socially prominent one.

Into the gayly lighted rooms of Dr. and Mrs. Prust's home, same a number of guests to be presented to Madame Sherry and to exclaim over the loveliness of her voice. Mr. Henry Atack, the assisting artist was also the centre of an interested group expressing their appreciation of his organ numbers. Mrs. Prust, receiving with her guest, wore a black satin gown embroidered in gold and made on princess lines, and gold slippers.

Among those who took great pleasure in greeting Mrs. Sherry were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Howson, the former having attended school with Madame Davies in Norwood, Ontario when they were children. They enjoyed many happy reminiscences.

Miss Connor, of the Edmonton Normal school staff, formerly of Saskatoon had enjoyed hearing the artist in that city and Miss Eleanor Agnew, also formerly of Saskatoon and a brilliant young violinist, had known her particularly well. Everywhere one heard of the very great contribution Madame Sherry has made to music in Saskatchewan, not only as an artist of very high talent, but as a teacher and enthusiast for the highest musical standards as well. Having resided in Saskatoon for more than twenty years she has organized choral societies, formed music clubs and led choirs. She teaches music in the Normal school there and has been soloist in Knox church for a number of years. She is devoted to her family and has foregone many opportunities for wider acknowledgement of her gifts in order to remain in Saskatoon. She spoke in wonderment of the many musicians, particularly with vocal talent in Edmonton, which she had only visited briefly once before.

In the dining room, which was lighted by the glow from tall green tapers in silver holders, Mrs. Thomas Gardiner and Madam J. J. Duggan presided at the tea table. A basket of crimson carnations were used on the beautiful ivory lace cloth.

Among those who assisted were Mrs. O. J. Walker, Mrs. B. E. McCuaig, Mrs. J. A. Buchanan, Mrs. James Walker, Miss Nora Harcourt, Mrs. Robert Broad, Mrs. A. C. Grant, Miss Zelma Moyes, Mrs. J. B. Carmichael and Mrs. J. Macd. Oswald.

Sutcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cockburn, the Rev. and Mrs. H. A. McLeod, Mrs. George Hudson, Miss Beatrice Crawford, Miss Violet Cumming, Mrs. J. Dixon Craig, Major and Mrs. F. H. Norbury, Mr. A. C. Advises on Make-Up on Neck, Back and Arms for Evening

By GLADYS GLAD

"DEAR MISS GLAD: The season of formal, social events is now here and since I do quite a bit of stepping during this season, there's a little problem I'd like to consult you about. When wearing an evening gown, I usually powder my neck, back and arms with the same powder I use for my face. This, however doesn't remain on very long, for usually, after a short time, there is more of it on my escort's coat than on me. Can you suggest any substitute? IRENE."

Gladys Glad

If a proper powder base is first applied to the skin and then the powder, a dry powder will not rub off so easily. But most women prefer a liquid powder for neck, arms and back, as this type of powder generally adheres more satisfactorily than a dry powder. If you use a liquid powder, however, be sure that you apply it properly. First shake the bottle thoroughly. Then pour a quantity of the liquid on a pad of cotton and smooth it evenly over your skin. If you are wearing a low backed gown it is wise to allow someone else to apply the powder lotion your back. For if you attempt to do it yourself, you may not get it on evenly, and it will look streaky. A good liquid powder should not rub off on your escort's coat, as it is very tenacious.

* * *

"Dear Miss Glad: My hair has improved so greatly during the past few weeks, that I simply had to write and thank you. It no longer falls out the way it did, and has become much thicker and glossier. And it's all due to the excellent instructions in your 'Beauty Culture' booklet. However, my mouth is in an acid condition, and I've been told to rinse it frequently with salt water water. Do you consider this a good mouth wash? LORROE."

Common table salt really is an effective dentifrice. It is an alkaline compound and helps to neutralize an acid mouth condition. However you can make a more effective mouth wash simply by dissolving one-fourth teaspoon of borax, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of peroxide in a glass of warm water. The borax and peroxide act as whiteners and antiseptics, while the salt neutralizes the mouth and keeps the gums hard

* * *

"Dear Miss Glad: My feet are normally low arched, and never give me any pain. When buying a pair of shoes recently, however, the salesman told me I needed arch supports to raise my arches. Do you think it really necessary for me to wear such appliances? MRS. APKAR."

Many people are under the impression that low arches are broken ones, but this is not all true. For a low arch is typical of different races. A person with low-arched feet can have just as good foot health as one with highly-arched feet. Arch supports should never be worn unless they are necessary. And in any event, it is not safe to depend upon the advice of a shoe salesman. If there is any doubt in your mind, consult a good chiropodist about your feet. If you really need arch supports, a chiropodist will not only advise you so, but will also prescribe the proper kind.

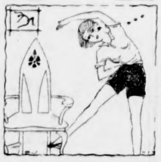
Milady Beautiful

By LOIS LEEDS



SLIMMING EXERCISES

The modern corseting garment is flexible and light in weight. It is not built to force the figure into a given shape as the old-fashioned corset did. It molds the figure to some extent but cannot camouflage it. So if milady wants to look as though she had a well-knit, youthful figure she must really have one nowadays. And the only way to attain this modern ideal is to exercise regularly. Exercise is, or should be, as integral a part of milady's beauty program as her manicure or make-up.

The sort of exercise that most women seem to need is that which slenderizes the waist, reduces the abdomen and massages the internal organs. Here are a few that may be included in the daily exercise periods.

Exercise 1. Stand erect beside a straight chair and about two feet away from it. Raise right leg sideways and insert the foot between the rungs of the chair. Hands on hips. Swing the right arm up and over the head while bending the body sideways over the left hip. Straighten up and repeat the movement six or ten times. Now turn around and insert right foot between the rungs and repeat the exercise bending left.

Exercise 2. Stand with feet braced well apart, arms out straight in front. Swing the left arm obliquely upward and backward as far as you can, letting your trunk twist to the left also and letting the right arm swing freely and naturally across the body. Keep the hips facing front. Continue the movement rhythmically from side to side for several minutes.

Exercise 3. Lie on your back on the floor with arms extended at shoulder level, legs together. Raise trunk to sitting position, swing arms forward and grasp your toes, knees bent. Straighten knees as much as possible while holding toes. Bend knees, stretch, bend. Release toes and lower trunk backward to the floor. Rest and repeat the exercise several times.

Exercise 4. Place on the floor an object about the size and weight of a brick and stand erect behind it. Without bending your knees lean over and grasp the object with both hands and raise it slowly as high as you can, straightening your body as you do so and keeping leg muscles tense. Reverse motion and return object to the floor. Repeat the exercise six or ten times.

Exercise 5. Get down on the floor on hands and knees. Contract the abdomen strongly and arch the back, exhaling. Inhale and let the diaphragm push the adbomen downward and let the back drop. Now swing trunk to left, then to right. Combine these four movements into one rotating movement of the trunk. Do the complete exercise several times.

HIS TOUCH IS TOO REPULSIVE

DEAR MISS DIX.—At 17 I married a man 10 years older than myself. He is a good man and treats me kindly, but I have come to loathe him. His very touch makes me shiver. We haven't an idea or thought in common. We quarrel constantly. I have one child. Must I go on this way to the end of my life? Why can't I take my child and go away and make a new beginning? Would not having my boy half the time be better than this fighting for him? What of his memories of his childhood in such a home? I suppose you will say stay for the sake of the child. It is all such a mess. G.

DOROTHY DIX.

Answer:

It generally does end in a mess when a girl of 17 gets married, because at that age she doesn't know what she wants in a husband nor what sort of woman she is going to be when she grows up and she hasn't the strength and courage and self-control to meet the inevitable trials of matrimony.

Nearly every girl who marries at 17 has lost her taste for her husband by the time she is 25 and resents being tied down by husband and home and children and having missed all the fun of girlhood.

But there is no real remedy for such a mistake. So far as leaving your husband is concerned, that is a step that nine women out of 10 regret after they have made it. Generally it is jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, for they find themselves confronted with difficulties that are worse than an uncongenial husband.

You have never tried making your living. You are trained to no trade or profession and if you take your child and go away from your husband and home you will half starve, for you could not get any but the most menial job, and what little you could earn would not go far toward supporting the two of you. Food and clothes and shelter may not seem much to you now when you are letting your mind dwell upon your sentimental grievances, but when you had no roof to cover you and were hungry you would wonder why you ever bothered about such a little thing as whether your husband understood you or not.

No one now advocates a quarreling wife and husband staying together for the sake of the children. Unless they are willing to sink their differences and control their tongues and tempers and make a peaceful and quiet home for their children, it is far better for them to part. Better for the children to have one parent or no parent at all than two who fight like cats and dogs. Better for the children to have no home than one that is a place of strife.

Psychologists tell us that the children who are brought up in homes where the parents squabble all the time carry the ill effects of their environment through life. They are mentally and spiritually warped and are far more subject to nervous breakdowns than are the children who have fathers and mothers who live amiably and peacefully together and who are brought up in a harmonious home.

It seems to me that any woman who loves her children should be willing to forego making snappy comebacks at her husband for the sake of their whole future welfare. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX.—I am 26 years old and my husband is 27. We were secretly married in December. I have learned that he is running around with women of bad character. He justifies himself in this by saying that it is his right. I have been raised in a Puritan home with very rigid ideas about marriage and divorce and find it difficult to believe that all men are untrue to their wives, as my husband says they are. I am thinking of getting a divorce, as these is no home or children for us to break up. I am making my own living. Please advise me. DISAPPOINTED

Answer:

It is not true that all men are unfaithful to their wives. There are plenty of husbands who are just as true to their wives as their wives are to them. Perhaps every man who really loves his wife is loyal to her. Certainly a husband of a few months' standing cares very little for his wife if he has already begun to roam.

The Housewife's Idea Box

To Overcome an Objectionable Odor

Sometimes an objectionable odor will penetrate the whole house after cooking cabbage, turnips or other strong-flavored food. You can overcome the odor in this way: Put boiling water into a basin. Add ten drops of oil of lavender. Walk through the rooms with this basin or let it stand in each room for a few minutes. In a little while all odor will disappear.

Summer clothing should be washed or dry cleaned before it is put away for the winter.

Youth Told To Lay Siege To Lady Fair

Man Who Laughed at Girl Now Yearns to Win Her Heart

By VIRGINIA LEE

ISN'T IT funny how we humans behave? No wonder Puck said, "Lord what fools these mortals be."

If folk we admire ignore us, we either adopt a haughty, don't care attitude, or we make fun of them, trying to make it appear that they simply don't rate with us. Really, it is our defensive mechanism at work trying to cover up our sense of inferiority and pique

Virginia Lee

* * *

It's not only the young people who act thus. Older folk do the same, and it would be very funny if it wasn't a little pitiful. We all do so want to be recognised and approved.

* * *

If you desire to be popular with the opposite sex, boys and girls make those persons with whom you associate feel that you admire them Play up their good points, both physical and mental. Don't be an insincere flatterer, but study each one and pick out his admirabl points—everyone has them—and then emphasize them. Life gives us all many hearty smacks that take the heart out of us. Try to make friends and acquaintances feel that you think they are fine and lovely.

I know a woman who does this. Her sister says, "When I am with Rose I feel that I am perfectly beautiful.

Her husband complains whimsically, "Lord she puts you on such a pedestal you get dizzy trying to stay on!" But you don't see him tumbling off. He makes every effort to stay up and not disappoint her.

* * *

SIR BUTTERFLY: I think you have analyzed the situation perfectly, Sir Knight. You boys all made fun of this girl to try to make up to yourselves for the way she ignored you. It was defense mechanism. She made you feel unworthy and so you tried to be superior.

Oh, well, we all do it, and it's the natural, human thing to do, so don't feel too badly. If the subject ever comes up in her presence, simply tell her how it was. "Gee," you could say, "You made us feel like dirt, so we had to show you somehow that we didn't care, didn't we?" She'll understand.

Your description makes her seem like a princess, "Divinely tall and most divinely fair." Take your courage in both hands, as you suggest, and ask her for a date. Don't give in if she refuses the first time. Settle down for a siege of the lady's heart.

Such devotion as yours deserves a reward. It may very well be that she likes you now, and her apparent coldness is her defense. Good luck to you.

Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Today I picked up a book on bridge, known for its simplicity and clearness.

This note was printed at the top of the first lesson: "Until you know all that is on this page thoroughly there is no use in going on with the next lesson."

The warning was repeated above the second lesson, the third and so on. And the sense of it struck me as the one fundamental truth of teaching mose overlooked in school work.

A child is supposed to get his lessons in logical order, each one built upon what has gone before. But many things happen to disrupt this in the course of a term. He may be out of school for a few days or the meaning of a certain lesson may have gone completely over his head. Perhaps he hasn't paid attention or it may be that the whole matter was too hard for him to understand.

CONFUSION AND DISCOURAGEMENT

His work may then become a mass of utter confusion for him from there on. His teacher and his parents are likely to think he is not trying or lacks brains. If he has been out of school they are more patient and some attempt is made to help him get caught up.

No one seems to think, however, of the other times that a child fails to grasp a point in class. Inattention does cause some of it, but as a matter of fact, in arithmetic especially, these lapses are a result of a real inability to understand the point in question at the moment.

A child may be excellent at finding the least common multiple and flounder hopelessly over the greatest common divisor. And vice versa with his neighbor. The process of dividing fractions may be hard for one child and at the same time he can beat all the rest multiplying them.

HELP HIM FIND THE SNAG

He can reason out "how" to do a problem, but the actual process of figuring and getting right answers is beyond him because he missed the first principle of the whole affair when they were going over it weeks before.

One time I had a boy who regularly made 20's and 40's on his daily work. I had to go back to the very earliest grade work to get at his trouble. He never had memorized the multiplication tables.

If your boys or girl perennially gets wrong answers why not go back with the child to the very beginning and follow along until you discover the snag.

First Shots Fired In Civic Election Battle On Tuesday

Candidates Speak to Meeting of South Side Businessmen

First shots were fired in the preface to the official election campaign Tuesday night when mayoralty, aldermatic and school board candidates contesting the forthcoming civic election spoke to a gathering of about 100 persons at a meeting of the South Side Business Men's association in the Scona Assembly Hall, Whyte Avenue. The election campaign proper does not open until Thursday, but as has been the case in former years, the South Side association were successful in being among the first organizations to hear the candidates' platforms.

The meeting, which commenced with a dinner, was presided over by Percy Manning, president of the association.

Candidates representing Labor and the Citizens' League, and those entering the election as Independents were heard at the meeting, as well as two seeking election under Communist colors.

LAUDED COURAGE

Prefacing the addresses, the chairman stated that the association felt honored in being able to hear the first shots fired in the election campaign. He lauded the contestants for being courageous enough to enter the election battle at a time when people were prone to be more or less critical of campaigners.

Mayor D. K. Knott, seeking re-election to the mayoralty on the Labor ticket, opened his address with a word of praise for the way members of city council had tackled the many problems presented them.

Continuing, he said that present conditions had been caused by probably the world's greatest depression, the end of which no person could forecast. The administrative officers had encountered considerable difficulty this year due to serious financial conditions.

The mayor also complimented the various departmental heads for the co-operation they had given the administration during the year.

UNNECESSARY TO SELL

Dealing with financial phase of the city's operations, the mayor said the bottom had fallen out of the bond market. Much needed money had been borrowed from the bank and an arrangement had been made whreby it was unnecessary for the city to sell its bonds at an unfavorable price, and not until the middle of 1934, if needs be. Bond men interested in Edmonton's bonds were already talking lower interest rates.

The sinking fund board had piled up a surplus of between $300,000 and $400,000, said the mayor. Bonds to the total amount of $6,300,000 fell due next year, and already a total of $3,800,000 had been redeemed on the open market by the board. "All bond holders will be paid 100 cents on the dollar, for Edmonton has stood up under a crisis where others defaulted," he declared.

Mayor Knott paid tribute to Commissioner David Mitchell for the able manner in which he had managed the financial affairs of the city. "He is one of the most faithful servants the city has ever had," he remarked.

The present arrangement with the other two governments in connection with the unemployment problem had proven unsatisfactory, averred the mayor. "The question is, how long will the city be able to pay for the care of unemployed? We are prepared to carry on as far as our resources will permit us," he said.

DONE HIS BEST

In concluding, the mayor stated: "I can say that after one year's service in the mayor's chair I have done the best I could. And with this in my mind, I face the future and the public with satisfaction."

S. A. G. Barnes, seeking re-election to the Edmonton Public School Board on the Labor ticket, was the first of the trustee candidates to speak. At the last election he had opposed the school by-law calling for the construction of a central school unit in the city, he said, on the ground that it was an unnecessary expense. His decision, he felt, had been justified as the burgesses had voted down the proposal.

Explaining how the taxpayer's dollar for school purposes was spent, Mr. Barnes said that 20 cents went for financial expenditure, three cents for administration, 62 cents for instruction, two cents for medical service, 11 cents for maintenance and operation, and two cents for taxes and insurance.

The net debt of the school board had increased $350,000 during the past 20 years, said Mr. Barnes, but during that time about a dozen schools, costing a total of $2,226,000 had been erected in the city. In view of this, he believed the debt to be a reasonable one.

ASKS SUPPORT

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Barnes asked the meeting to support Dan Powers, Labor candidate for the school board, who was unable to be present at the meeting.

Jos. A. Clarke, Independent candidate for the mayoralty dealt extensively with the Calgary Power agreement, stating that this agreement was not in the best interests of the city, and that it should have been submitted to the vote of the burgesses.

A. Farmilo, Labor candidate for alderman, declared at the opening of his speech that the Calgary Power agreement was not an issue in the forthcoming election, and that the party which he represented would not make it an issue. "The main question before us is that of unemployment, and the readjustment of the great mass of people who find themselves out of work," he declared.

RECEIVED MORE VALUE

He contended that the city had received more value for its money by the tri-party agreement which called for contributions by the municipal, provincial nad federal governments for unemployment construction work carried out here.

F. C. Casselman, campaigning for election to the school board on the ticket of the Citizens' League, informed the meeting that he had served on the board for four years. "I don't particularly want to run again. It is an honor which requires a lot of time," he said, adding that if the voters saw fit to return him he would work for lower costs with efficiency in school board administration.

Ald. C. L. Gibbs, contesting the election for re-election to the aldermanic board on the Labor ticket, declared that as an alderman he welcomed criticism. He believed that members of council at all times should seek close co-ordination with experts in the many phases of the city's business. Aldermen were not experienced in every line of business, and should not be criticized by the public if they relied on experts to give them help in making decisions.

PREDICTS RE-ADJUSTMENT

"Before many months have passed there will be astonishing changes in our economic system. There will be a re-adjustment," concluded the speaker.

Mrs. W. D. Ferris, seeking re-election to the school board with the support of the Citizens' league, was of the opinion that the present campaign would prove a difficult time for candidates in view of existing conditions. Dealing with the financial situation she believed economic laws would "bring us to something better." Mrs. Ferris also spoke of the progress being made in the board's efforts to provide practical technical training for those students best adapted to this line of study. She mentioned, also, the excellent medical system which is operating in connection with city schools.

J. W. Fry, candidate for alderman on the slate of the Citizens' league, stated that he was seeking election to public office for the first time. He felt that he had time to spare for full consideration of the city's problems, and would give of his best in public service if felected.

WOULD TAX BONDS

Dr. R. C. Ghostley, independent candidate for alderman, briefly reviewed the bond situation as far as the city was concerned. He attacked the few who contrlled the wealth of the country, and asserted that if steps were not taken "to devour the octopus which is clutching at us," results would be more serious than they were at present. He advocated the taxing of Edmonton's bonds, explaining that this would result in a revenue of between $200,000 and $400,000 yearly.

Jas. East, Labor candidate for alderman, also expressed himself as being strongly opposed to any system which gave support to a few people who controlled the majority of wealth.

Referring to unemployment, he said he could not be sufficiently proud of the city when he saw so many on the bread line. One of the causes of the present economic illness was the inability to distribute the goods produced by machinery. In closing, he stated that the Calgary Power agreement, while being attacked in many quarters, was saving the city money.

SHOULD SUPPORT BONDS

J. H. Ogilvie, Citizens' League candidate for alderman, stressed the necessity of preventing the mill rate from climbing any higher. Capital expenditures should be eliminated excepting for revenue-producing utilities. He also felt that the credit of the whole nation should support the bonds of the municipalities, and that the municipalities should not be required to pay a higher rate of interest than the interest at which the credit of the Dominion could borrow.

S. Parsons, Labor candidate for alderman, claimed that disaster would ersult if the city continued to pay interest charges of 65 cents on each tax dollar. The world was in the midst of an economic war, he declared, "and while we are in a rut I am not prepared to stay in it."

He was of the opinion that a successful cure for unemployment would be the undertaking of a construction program on a large scale with the aid of the Dominion and provincial governments.

Peter Glassman, Independent candidate for the aldermanic board, and who contested the election last year, attacked the high taxation. More efficient administration would result in a lower tax rate, and if elected he promised to work to this end.

OPPOSES SUGGESTION

J. T. McCreath, Citizens' League candidate for alderman, opposed the suggestion made at the meeting that the city should tax its bonds. To hold the confidence of the people and to retain its credit "Edmonton must meet its bond obligations," he averred. Dealing with the revision of taxation which is being undertaken at the present time, he stated that a great deal of care would have to be exercised in this connection in order that all property holders might receive fair treatment.

J. Gordon Savage, candidate for alderman on the ticket of the Citizens' League, explained to his audience that he was running for civic office for the first time. He had been in the wholesale business here for many years, and while not ready to make any rash promises, he would use his business ability in aiding to solve the financial problems which confronted the city at the present time. He made an earnest solicitation for the support of those at the meeting at the civic election, and declared that he would at all times support any action which would lead to the betterment of the city as a whole.

L. T. Price, Labor candidate for the school board, in a short address declared that the Labor organization was the only body which had come forward with constructive proposals aimed to end unemployment and place Edmonton on a firm financial basis. He asked for support on election day, promising that he would work in the interests of education if elected to the board.

ATTACKS LABOR

Jan Lakeman, aldermanic candidate seeking election under Communist colors, attacked the Labor party on the ground that it was not presenting one solid platform.

Referring to what he called "Bennett's starvation policy," Mr. Lakeman opined that this policy had exploited the workers and would soon wreck the middle classes. City council had followed this policy with disastrous results. "I am going to be on the city council next year, and I thank you," he concluded.

G. H. Salter, the other Communist candidate for alderman, said that people at present were paying too much attention to money, and not enough to the situation which prevailed amongst the destitute classes. He urged humane treatment of those "who are not responsible for the position in which they find themselves."

W. G. Walford, Citizens' League candidate for the School Board, and last speaker of the evening, stated that he stood ready and willing to give of his best in public service if elected. He would give all city problems serious consideration and would be guided by common sense in reaching decisions.

Mr. East asked the meeting to support Mrs. J. Ringwood, Labor candidate for school trustee, who was not present at the meeting.

He's Head Of Soviets "Godless"

EMILIAN YAROSLAVSKY, head of the "Godless Society" in Soviet Russia, recently told American tourists in Moscow that his group now has more than 5,500,000 members and that these represent only a fraction of the atheists in that country. Yaroslavsky stated, however, that there are still 100,000,000 Russians who profess religion, and said that "some children are still being given religious training at home in spite of the efforts of our public schools to prevent it."

135 SCHOOL FAIRS HELD DURING 1932

Growth of Movement in Province Reaches New Peak

Reaching a new peak in its growth the school fair development movement has concluded its 1932 season, according to officials of the provincial department of agriculture. Starting 16 years ago with one school fair in a small district centreing around Olds, the movement has expanded to the extent that this year no fewer than 135 such fairs were held.

The school fair has definitely won its place in the province as an almost indispensible medium of rural community development, particularly with respect to agriculture. These fairs have furnished a focal point for the work of the junior farmer clubs in the immediate localities where these are organized and the two fields of effort have been effectively co-ordinated.

In 1931 more than 35,000 school children exhibited at the school fairs, exhibiting more than 160,000 entries in various classes. More than 1000 schools were represented, from the Peace River area to the international border.

Sponsorship of the school fair has been given by the agricultural department in association with the education department. The former department gives diplomas to the school attaining the largest awards in agricultural subjects and the latter issues a similar diploma in educational subjects.

FUTURE FLYERS

WEST POINT, Nov. 2—About 25 per cent of the class graduated from the U. S. Military Academy here last June have been detailed for air service. These men have been detailed to the Air Corps for flying training. These men have been sent to Randolph Field, Tex., for their instructions.

LAUGHS AT DEATH

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Duncan Neale made arrangements for his death—and then went out and got himself married. He arranged his own funeral, bought his tombstone, supervised its erection and affixed to it a tablet to his memory. Then, although 70 years of age, he went and married the sweetheart of his boyhood days.

MANY WANT AIR JOBS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. — Since the medical examination department of the Aeronautics Branch of the U.S. Department of Commerce started operating in 1927, that bureau has examined 160,000 applicants for student permits and licensed pilots, it is reported. The greatest number examined in any one year was in 1929, when 36,982 applicants were tested.

BIG INVESTORS RUSH TO HAND IN OFFERINGS

Full Amount is Accepted For Small Three-year Loan

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—Substantial progress has been reported towards the total of $80,000,000 asked for in connection with the loan. Announcement was made today that results for Monday showed subscriptions to the long term loan amounting to $15,000,000. With this added to the first day's total of $25,000,000, the full amount accepted for the three-year loan, the total for the two issues, as the result of complete results for the first day only, amounted to $40,000,000.

No further subscriptions can be received for the short term bonds, but a balance of $40,000,000 of the long term bonds is still available for subscription, out of the original total of $55,000,000.

It will be a day or two yet before records of subscriptions of the smaller investors to the long-term loan begin to pour into the headquarters of the management committee.

Largest new subscription announced today to the 1932 Dominion of Canada loan came from Winnipeg, the Great West Life Assurance Company of Canada subscribing to $1,000,000 of the long term, 20-year bonds.

What's What

By HELEN DUCIE

Question—After a man dies how long should his widow (age 42) remain in mourning? His son (age 20)? His 17-year-old daughter? When does half-mourning begin?
M. V.

Answer—The usual period for a widow's mourning is one or two years. The absurd term "half-mourning" has no significance nowadays. White may be worn during warm weather, with black hat, black shoes and stockings. The son wears a black mourning band on the left arm of a light or dark suit or overcoat and a black tie for six months. The daughter may for a year, if she prefers.

Question—What is the correct seating at the table for a family of mother, father, three sons, one daughter and her husband, one grandson and the grandfather and grandmother who are visiting the family?
JOHN'S JOHN.

THE TINYMITES — Story by HAL COCHRAN — Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The farmer's car took him along and not a single thing went wrong. He hopped out at his farmyard and then looked back down the road.

At last he said, "I'm satisfied! The Tinies, on their strange horse ride, will soon be here. The flying horse is pulling quite a load.

"I promised those fine lads a treat. They'll all be starved and glad to eat, so I must get real busy with my pots and pans and such.

"I have some chickens I can cook. Just think how good that's bound to look. I 'spose I'll have to watch the lads so they won't eat too much."

* * *

While he was getting things all set, the Tinymites began to fret because the flying horse had stopped, explaining it was fagged.

"We'll all get out," wee Scouty cried. "We'll gladly walk, instead of ride, if you will just keep going. If you're too tired, you'll be dragged."

The horse, however, looked about, and when the Tinies had piled out, it said, "Oh, I can reach the farm, but we must travel slow."

Then they continued on their way. Soon Windy loudly cried, "Hurray! We're here, and now we're going to have a real good meal, I know."

* * *

And he was right. The farmer met the bunch and said, "A table's set right out here in the open. I've cooked chicken for you all.

"Just sit right down and eat your fill, but use your heads. Don't eat until you're sick. There is no doctor very near that I can call."

"Oh, my!" snapped Duncy, "this is great. Bring on the chicken. I can't wait. Give me a great big drumstick. Someone else can have the wing."

The farmer served them, one by one. To him it was a lot of fun. "If you keep on," he shouted, "you won't leave a single thing."

O'Hare

This name is derived from the Gaelic "arra" meaning a pledge.

The ancient Irish house of O'Hair, O'Hare, O'Hara, according to the old Irish pedigrees, can be traced to Ir, the fifth son of Milesius. The Clan O'Hare was a very formidable one in its early history, and many clans bearing names similar to O'Hare sprang from this clan, such clans as O'Hir, O'Harr, and O'Heir.

The O'Hairs were seated in County Down, Ireland, in the city of Newry. This town, which is now practically an isolated spot, was in olden times one of the most important cities of Ireland. Excavations and remains of earthquakes show that a powerful race existed there even before the dawn of authentic history. This town is shut in by the Newry Mountains, and it was there that the O'Hares lived and flourished until the eighteenth century.

C.G.A. GIVES APPROVAL TO CIVIC SLATE

Recommend Placing of Fifth Candidate in Aldermanic Field

Endorsation of the complete Citizens slate so far nominated has been given by the Civic Government Association, which itself will not follow customary practice and place a slate of candidates in the field.

In giving endorsation to the slate the C.G.A. also recommended that the Citizens slate add a fifth aldermanic candidate as the running of a slate of four was not believed to be as good policy as adding the fifth. Providing a fifth candidate was named the C.G.A. promised to endorse that candidate as well.

The Citizens' slate consists of the following:—

It is more than likely that a fifth aldermanic candidate will be placed in the field before nominations close at noon on Wednesday.

The Citizens' slate does not include a mayoralty selection and there is no prospect of such an entry being made, as there are already three in the field.

Widdowson is alleged to have fired on the group with a shotgun loaded with bird shot. He had been annoyed earlier in the evening, he stated, and when the group appeared between 11 o'clock and midnight he attempted to chase them off.

Alberta Relief Commission continued its discussions today with city officials on plans for opening relief camps, according to A. M. MacKenzie, chairman of the body.

Mr. MacKenzie said he was unable to say how many camps would be formed or where they would be situated. He added that Col. G. E. Sanders of Calgary, member of the commission and himself would meet city officials again this afternoon to discuss the question.

RETURNS TO EDMONTON

The third commission member, Robert Livingstone of Lethbridge, has left for Lethbridge to confer with officials of that city, Mr. MacKenzie stated.

Following the Calgary conversations to day, Mr. MacKenzie will return to Edmonton where the commission will meet again this coming Monday when final decisions will probably be made.

It is understood, however, that Elk Island and Waterton Lakes National Parks will be the scene of two camps where single jobless will be cared for under arrangements between the Dominion and Alberta governments.

Edmonton Expects Same Treatment

"We expect to get the same treatment as Calgary in the matter of unemployed single men," said Mayor D. K. Knott when shown the above despatch today. "Before Premier Brownlee went to Calgary be informed me that the commission would take the matter up with us as soon as they had met the Calgary officials, and we expect to be in conference with them on this matter as soon as they return. Our understanding is that we are to take care of the men temporarily until the commission gets its camps under way, and we are doing this. After the camps are located and in shape to take the men we will be relieved of this responsibility."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Do you think that the proposed scheme for the enlargement of municipal districts in Alberta, to reduce the approximately 168 now existing to 40, is a good move and one which will result in greater efficiency in administration at less cost to the taxpayer?

This month the question will be thoroughly discussed at a meeting of the Municipal Districts' Association at Calgary. It is a plan which might be put into effect in Alberta and therefore is one that concerns all residents of the province.

With a view to finding out how it stands in the estimation of "Mr. Man-in-the-Street," the Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter sought some opinions, recorded hereunder:

HIS WORSHIP MAYOR D. K. KNOTT: I haven't had much time to think about the scheme as yet. I have been too busy devoting my time to the unemployment and other questions. However, at a first glance, reserving the right to alter my opinion on closer examination of the question, I would say that there is much to be said for it. In the net result there would be less cumbersome municipal machinery and I think about the same degree of general efficiency would prevail. It is a scheme that bears close scrutiny and doubtless much enlightening information will be forthcoming when the plan is analysed at Calgary.

• • •

JACK MARSHALL, insurance agent: Personally I think it is a good idea. In the main it will tend to decentralize government, which in itself is a good idea. I do think that in such matters as road construction, that more beneficial results will accrue from the municipalities taking a greater part therein than formerly. On the other side of the question I feel that in matters like weed control, that the government should still maintain even greater control than is done at the present time. Very few municipal inspectors today, for instance, will order a neighbor to plow under his field on account of weed conditions, whereas an inspector from government headquarters will not consider the individual's feelings to the same extent, but will look at the question from the broader, provincial standpoint.

• • •

DONALD L. MCKINLEY, farmer, Namao: I am not in favor of this scheme. It would only tend to increase taxation instead of decreasing it and what is more, I have a suspicion that it would also increase jobs for a class of political heelers. I suggest things be left as they are.

• • •

A. J. OTTEWELL, farmer and coal operator, Clover Bar: This scheme does not commend itself to me. It is too unweildy. I think the more natural boundaries such as exist at present, should remain. For instance it will be very difficult to unite municipalities on opposite sides of the Saskatchewan where there are no bridges or other means of communication.

OPERA COMPANY STRANDED

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—Fifty-four opera singers are "broke" here, with not enough money to get out of town. After playing Rigoletto, Faust and Il Trovatore, the singers found the receipts didn't pay much more than car fare back to their hotel. Tonight they will again perform in hopes that they can raise money enough to move on to Winnipeg, where an engagement awaits them.

G. N. JOHNSTON RUMORED FOR CABINET POST

Speaker of Alberta House in City—Shake-up Reports Revived

Presence in this city on Wednesday of George N. Johnston United Farmers of Alberta member of the legislature for Coronation and speaker of the house revived rumors of cabinet reorganization, announced some time ago by Premier J. E Brownlee and made more imminent by the death last July of Hon Vernor W. Smith, minister of railways and telephones.

While Premier Brownlee is confined to bed at the present time and is not expected to take any immediate action, there are many who feel that Mr. Johnston's presence is a forerunner of his being named to a cabinet post.

Should he be appointed to the cabinet, Mr. Johnston undoubtedly would be warmly welcomed. As Mr. Speaker, he has proved his capacity as a legislator and as he is extremely popular with his own party, his choice as a minister would be generally regarded with high favor in his own party.

For his fair and impartial handling of the rules of the legislature Mr. Johnston has won the esteem of the whole house.

While here Mr. Johnston will probably transact some constituency business and make arrangements for coming here for the winter, which he usually does, to lighten his sessional duties.

Edmonton Commissioners Present Annual Review Of Civic Report

All Departments Of Civic Activity Are Reviewed

To the Aldermen and Citizens of the City of Edmonton

EDMONTON Alberta.
October 31st, 1932

ALDERMEN AND CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF EDMONTON.

Civic administration during the present year has been carried on under adverse conditions. Due to the continued financial depression and increasing unemployment, the situation has become more acute than it was last year. The burden of relieving the unemployed in addition to providing for the routine services of the community even in a restricted degree, has seriously increased the responsibilities of the Civic authorities. It is estimated that the City's share for this year of direct relief will be over $380,000 or the equivalent of nearly $1,000 per day. The Council up to the present is still in suspense as to the policy of the Federal Government in regard to the care of the single men and transients. It is anticipated that the City may be relieved of the cost of their maintenance and which has been urged upon the Governments, both Dominion and Provincial for some considerable time past.

A year ago with the view of providing work, and in accordance with the provisions of the Dominion Act, a programme of construction work was undertaken at an estimated gross cost of $850,000 contributed to in the proportions of 50% by the Federal and 25% by the Provincial Governments respectively, the City assuming the balance. This programme continued throughout last winter and was completed early this summer, and included the erection of two bridges, one of reinforced concrete on 102nd Ave., the other of steel construction at 82nd Street, both of which were urgently required. The other work consisted of grading and gravelling of lanes, and arterial streets; sewer extensions and sewage disposal plant; watermain extensions and replacement of obsolete steel mains and sundry other works, all of which were selected specially with the view of providing a maximum of man-days.

In addition to the programme of unemployment relief work referred to certain other construction works commenced last year have been completed and also such Utility extensions and services as were unavoidable. Otherwise further Capital expenditures have been discontinued.

The new central Police Station, commenced in 1931, was completed early in the year, the Police headquarters being transferred to the new premises in February last. The net cost to the City of the new building is $115,055.93 (inclusive of discount on sale of debentures).

At the City Power Plant the new extension and boiler unit has been completed at a cost of $330,000. The original estimate was $450,000. This installation means an annual saving under present conditions on operation costs of $13,000.00 and also on account of a reduction in the demand charge due to the increased capacity of the Plant from 16,000 to 20,000 K.W.H. representing approximately an annual saving of $31,380 or the equivalent of the debenture charges on the new extension.

Street Railway track reconstruction and re-paving on 118th (Alberta) Avenue from 80th to 88th Street which was urgently required was completed at a cost of $90,-785.00.

Jasper Avenue East extending from the Latta Bridge to 82nd Street was paved at a cost of $41,-100.00 net, the Street Railway tracks having been relocated along the north side of the highway. The New Incinerator, having a daily capacity of 125 tons has been completed at a cost of $91,000 and is now in operation. Number 4 Sewage Disposal Plant was completed as part of last winter-season's construction programme at a cost of $42,660.00 and is also in operation.

It is satisfactory to state that the Electric Light & Power and Water Departments show increased numbers of services. Tax Collections thus far have been fairly good. Building Permits are well over the million dollar mark. Gross earnings of the Civic Utilities show an increase. Street Railway passengers exceed those of last year. The net surplus of the Utilities constitute a record. The Exhibition Association's operations resulted in a surplus of approximately $10,000 as against a deficit of $1[illegible] 864.46 last year. The City's Sinking Fund has been fully maintained and now represents a total investment of over fourteen million dollars (inclusive of reserves) in first class securities. The Sinking Fund Board accordingly are addressing themselves to the responsibility of paying off $6,299,798.70 City Debentures which will mature during 1933 and will be met on their due dates.

GENERAL DEBT		$649,339.06
Local Improvements—Property Share		$1,967,402.00
UTILITIES:—
Light	$ 533,283.32
Power	708,924.39
Street Railway	1,398,048.12
Telephone	1,019,087.86
Waterworks	23,703.94
		$3,683,057.64
		$6,299,798.70

It will be observed that nearly $2,000,000 of local improvement debentures will be retired in 1933 with corresponding relief in due course to those property owners whose properties have been carrying the necessary frontage charges for a term of years in respect of this debt.

Similarly the Utility Departments, in due course, as debt redemptions occur in their case will also reflect in increased surpluses, the effect of decreased debenture charges.

BANK ACCOMMODATION AND SPECIAL LOANS.

The City at the present time is indebted to the Imperial Bank on Current Account for approximately $750,000 pending balance of current tax collections and other credits.

On Capital Account the City has also been granted by the Bank a special loan of $1,250,000 at 6% secured against hypothecated Debentures due for sale. Through the courtesy of the Provincial Government, the City also has been accommodated with a loan of $350,000 on Treasury Bills at 5½% on capital account. These special loans will be repaid on sale of the City's Debentures as soon as market conditions are favorable.

NOTE:—

Such special loans, it should be noted, are merged in the statement which subsequently follows under the head Debenture Debt.

THE BUDGET:—

A summary of the Civic Budget of Current Revenue and Expenditures follows. Department Estimates were scrutinized with the utmost care by both the Commissioners and the City Council. During the year substantial economies were effected. Last year a reduction of 4% on all salaries and wages of $100.00 and over was made as from 1st October and this year from 1st April this was increased to 8% on all salaries and wages of $100.00 and over with 4% applied to those earning less than $100.00. For the present year these reductions will amount to $160,000 for all Civic employees and those of appointive Boards. On an annual basis the reduction amounts to $240,000. In addition there have been savings from reduction in staffs and working hours in various departments representing approximately $54,660 per annum. Economies are being progressively made wherever possible.

TAX ARREARS— CAVEAT 1930

One of the problems at the present time is in regard to the large number of home properties which at present are included in the 1930 Caveat list. Owing to the economic situation many of the smaller property owners especially are unable to discharge these arrears for the time being. It has been urged that the Civic administration in some way should provide a program of work for those tax payers to offset these arrears but the difficulty lies in the fact that the City having made the expenditures involved in the tax levy necessarily requires to recover these arrears in order to discharge its financial obligations. The matter, however, is under consideration.

REVISED ASSESSMENT

Last year Council had reached the conclusion that a completely revised assessment of land and improvements was due to be undertaken which was authorized early this year and the work is now in progress and will be completed shortly.

It is premature at this stage to attempt any forecast of the probable result of this revaluation but for a number of years past there has been some dissatisfaction in certain quarters especially as to the land values.

In 1914 the Assessment of land (only) was $191,000,000 which was equivalent to a per capita of about $2,700. The present day assessment of land (only) is approximately $34,500,000 which is less than one-fifth of the assessment in 1914 while the combined assessment of land and buildings for the present year is about $66,000,000, or equivalent to a per capita of $840.00. The last valuation of improvements was made some ten years ago.

DEBENTURE DEBT.

The last sale (a partial sale) of Debentures by the City was made early in 1931 and since then there has been a gradual accumulation of Debentures due to be issued but which it has not been possible to dispose of owing to market conditions in the meantime except at unduly high rates of interest.

Under these circumstances temporary or special loans were arranged as previously mentioned from the Bank and the Provincial Government pending a sale of the City's securities aggregating approximately $2,000,000. These debentures are of General Utilities and Local Improvements (Property Share) classification. In order, therefore, to bring into view the full debenture obligations including those Debentures pending sale the summary which follows is submitted.

According to this summary the Gross Debenture Debt (inclusive of Debentures pending sale as mentioned) amounts to $38,888,133.19. Deducting from this the Sinking Fund Investment of $13,988,775.35, the total net Debenture Debt is $24,899,357.84.

From the summary referred to it will be noted that the combined net Debenture Debt of the Public Utilities is under $6,000,000.

CIVIC UTILITIES

On the present year's operations of the Utilities for the nine months' period ending 30th September the combined net surplus (after deducting Debenture and Depreciation charges) is $465,308.46 compared with $328,628.59 for the corresponding period of last year. This result is inclusive of the deficit on the Street Railway Department which this year is only $5,689.04 as against a deficit for the same period of 1931 of $36,800.38.

It is worthy of mention that the aggregate net surplus accruing from the several branches of the Utilities since their inception (after providing for Debenture and Depreciation charges) has now reached the sum of over $5,000,000.

CITY ASSESSOR
Mr. T. Walker

The present year's net assessment is $65,967,095 or $784,475 less than in 1931, principally due to the land in the H. B. Reserve transferred to the city in December, 1931.

BUILDING INSPECTOR
Mr. J. Martland

Building permits numbered 675, of value of $1,025,200, compared with 770 for 1931 same period, value $1,238,050. Edmonton ranked sixth highest city in the Dominion in building construction as at 30th September.

Inspection work includes plumbing, sewer and water installations, gas installations, billboards, signboards, projecting electric signs, elevators and licensed premises, all new buildings and alterations. Records are maintained of all permits issued and plans and specifications filed for future reference. Plans and specifications were prepared for new incinerator; specifications and supervision of work on pump house and addition to power plant.

Expenditures On Direct Relief Show A Large Increase

As Result a Deficit on This Year's Operations is Inevitable, Says Report

CIVIC RELIEF
Superintendent T. S. Magee

(1) Relief:—

Abnormal conditions, but operations well within estimates. Department covers whole range of social service up to and including deaths and burials.

(2) Child Welfare and Probation work:—

Investigations incidental to Juvenile Crime; majority of juvenile offenders misdirected youths and in many instances dealt with outside Juvenile Court. During period 55 children were adopted, thereby relieving city of further financial responsibility.

Owing to follow-up system very few children in institutions which is less costly as well as better for children, who are placed on probation and regularly visited by Probation Officers. Thirty boys report weekly to male officers. Good results accrue from majority of probation cases. Similar system applies to neglected and delinquent girls in charge of lady officers. 275 newsboys under registration—conduct on the whole, very good. Statistics indicate clearly extensive scope of department's work.

CLAIMS AGENT
Mr. S. C. Gosling

Number of accidents during period of nine months, 249, in respect of which claims were filed numbering 105. Total claims $78,022.02, amount of settlements, $6,995.37.

Number of accidents similar to last year. Claims on account of defective sidewalks this year, only 5, involving $305, as compared with 14 claims paid of $5,288 last year, same period. Improvement is due to rigid system of inspection of plank walks inaugurated by engineer's department.

Accidents due to ice and snow, on the increase. Last year six claims filed, this year, 16. This type of accident difficult of prevention, owing to climatic conditions.

Street railway reported 190 accidents, with 26 claims, costing $2,-202.95, compared with 194 accidents and 46 claims costing $4,431.03, in period of 1931.

ENGINEER'S DEPARTMENT
City Engineer A. W. Haddow

Considerable work, both construction and maintenance nature undertaken by means of relief labor. The special unemployment relief work program completed in June included the grading and gravelling of 23½ miles of lanes, one mile of residential streets both on a local improvement assessment basis; the grading and gravelling of 11½ miles of new main highways and also additional gravel coat on certain of older main highways.

Three gravel pits were operated by contractors on a cost plus basis. The work presented 27,000 man man days.

BRIDGES REPLACED—

Old trestle bridge over Rat Creek on 82nd street replaced by steel tower construction, carrying reinforced concrete deck 40 feet between curbs, two street railway tracks and two concrete walks. Footings, deck and all concrete work carried out by city forces. Steel work fabrication and erection by Dominion Bridge Company. man days, 3000.

The old timber trestle on 102nd avenue, at Wellington Crescent replaced by reinforced concrete arch span. Work carried out during the coldest weather by city forces with relief labor. Bridge has overall length of 255 feet by 40 feet between curbs and two concrete walks. Man days given as 6400.

A small bridge was constructed at Anderson's brick yard to provide road approach to the new incinerator over Mill Creek. Man days 250.

SEWERS AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL—

Only a few minor sewer extensions undertaken. Storm relief sewers were contracted for, including that on 101st street and 87th avenue to relieve congestion in the district east of C.P.R. and north of 82nd avenue; the other extension being made along the hillside from Riverside Park to 112th street to relieve congestion in North Garneau with ultimately in view the extension to Windsor Park subdivision. The mileage of these extensions was 1.65 miles.

No. 1 Sewage Disposal Plant (Riverdale) was enlarged, the principal works being grit chamber fine screen, sedimentation and digestion tanks, together with necessary gas holder and all mechanical equipment. Man days 20,000.

PARKS and AIRPORT—

At the stadium the baseball diamond and the race track were completed, the former being completely underdrained and surfaced. The race track has a concrete curb surrounding and has been cindered. Sewer extension has been already made in preparation for future requirements. At the Airport ground levelling has been completed and the whole area is now available for landing purposes. This work represented 1800 man days.

PAVING—

The approaches to the Royal Alexandra Hospital and the Memorial Hall were constructed by contract as part of the unemployment relief work program. 2100 man days were involved.

During the summer period between May and the present month certain paving work was carried out on Jasper East, from Latta Bridge to 82nd street. This entailed the removal of the street car tracks over a portion of the distance and the surfacing of the track area. It is pointed out that the separating of the through roadway from the street car track and local roadway was made possible by the strip of land along the old penitentiary property acquired from the Dominion Government. Concrete walk and boulevarding was carried out in connection with the Jasper avenue east paving improvement, a proportion of the work being done by relief work labor, married and teams.

NEW INCINERATOR—

This plant was tested and accepted from the contractors on the 6th of October. The incinerator has five cells for refuse destruction and separate chamber for carcass disposal and has a capacity of 25 tons per day (24 hours), with a working temperature of 1300 degrees F. The building housing the destructor, fan, weighing scale and other equipment was erected by local contract. The old incinerator on 112 avenue is now being demolished by relief labor.

UNEMPLOYED MARRIED MEN ON RELIEF

The principle was adopted some time ago of utilizing the services of as many of these men as possible by rotation, the men working one week in every five or six weeks under the supervision of one of its own men, 220 relief men having been utilized each day by this method. According to a distribution shown 113,850 man days were thus provided and included repairing of plank walks, garbage and ash collection, street cleaning, ditching, clearing gutters in unpaved residential streets, extermination of weeds, grass cutting, etc. The total days included 13,850 single man days. No local improvement program has been carried out this year, although there are outstanding petitions at this date approximately representing $175,000 of local improvements.

GENERAL—

In May all outside crews went on a five-day week (40 hours). Mention is made of the fact that the Gas Company recently completed an extensive survey of leaks and have also brought into operation the newly constructed plant in Bonnie Doon for the odorization of gas passing through the mains. The requirements of the department in the matter of trees for boulevard purposes, parks, golf links, etc., were fully provided for from the nursery at Beechmount, with exception of some 300 trees bought outside. Truck haulage for downtown garbage collection appears to be operating successfully, hired trucks, however, for this purpose being still in use. All departmental maintenance and operation services have been carried out on a reduced scale, reduction having been maintained by a reduction of staff and infiltration of relief labor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT
Fire Chief A. Dutton

The department responded to 500 fire alarms as against 508 for the corresponding period in 1931. The amount of insurance involved for the period was $2,643,082.15, as compared with $2,342,761.50 for the same period last year. The loss adjusted amounted to $358,913 against $222,297 for last year. 75% of the fire losses occurred in connection with the Edmonton Marble and Tile Co., the Corona Hotel and the Edmonton Paint & Glass, these three fires totalling $270,611 of the total loss as adjusted.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT
Dr. R. B. Jenkins

Vital statistics show for the nine months, births numbered 1133, deaths 444, infant deaths (under one year), 51; marriages 831. The birth rate per 1000 population was 18.8, compared with 20.88 for the corresponding period of last year on the basis of 80,000 population. The death rate per 1000 population was 7.5, as compared with 6.39 for last year. The infant mortality rate per 1000 living births was 45.01 compared with 55.65 last year. Of the 1133 births during the nine months' period, the parentage is classified as Canadian, 527; British, 284; U.S.A. 105; foreign, 217. A complete analysis is given in regard to communicable diseases, principal causes of death, child welfare and child welfare clinic work as well as prenatal service. In connection with the inspection of food and milk service of the department 8,508 carcasses were inspected and passed. There were 3021 inspections made. A large quantity of food was condemned as unfit for human consumption. Of 897 samples of milk taken, 723, or 80% graded special. An important part of the work of the department is that of general sanitation and inspection.

LAND DEPARTMENT
Supt. J. Paterson

The city owns 235 tax sale buildings in addition to 46 buildings on lands purchased by the city for various purposes, making a total of 281 buildings. There are 1024 tenants of which 274 occupy dwellings; 386 pay ground rent for use

ALTOMAHS OPEN FAR-WEST FINALS TONIGHT

* * *

EDMONTON
BULLETIN SPORTS

PATS and PANS by BILL LEWIS

Out on Canada's West Coast tonight, Calgary Altomahs begin their two-game campaign for Far Western gridiron honors and the right to advance into the next stage of playdowns for the Dominion championship—the Western Canada finals. They reached the Western finals last season but were beaten back at that point by Regina Roughriders. Last year, they met and defeated Vancouver A. C. in the first round of the playdowns and their triumph was a rather convincing one, but tonight they face a reputedly stronger Meraloma team and the series just starting presents somewhat of a question mark.

It is naturally a pretty hard sort of series to dope out, and therefore not a good one on which to place any bets, but the fact remains that your agent has, for the second straight year, wagered a few kopecks against the chances of Altomahs. And "Eck" Duggan, the other party to the wager, does not seem to be nearly as worried as over his choice as I'd like to see him. He figures the Calgarians to beat the Coasters rather handily.

Another man who isn't doing much worrying these days, when you'd think he would be, is Coach "Scotty" Brown of the Young Liberals. Despite the fact that his team lost by 13-1 in Calgary last Saturday in the first game of the provincial finals, the little Scot becomes more confident every day that his team will be able to trounce the southerners here this coming Saturday by more than the 12 points needed to overcome the margin held by Calgary and win the Alberta title.

These Young Liberals are a band of battlers all the way in a football game and, if they get away on the right foot in this game they're likely to make the 12-point Calgary lead look pretty small.

But, then, you can never tell how the breaks will come in a gridiron struggle.

Lloyd Turner, Calgary hockey mogul, who will control and boss the Foothills' City entry in the new Western Canada Professional Hockey League, is continuing to show more activity than any of the other managers — at least, publicly—in signing players for his team. Latest to be put on the line is Bill Hutton, the classy defenseman who appeared here with Calgary Canadian juniors a few years back before being signed by Boston.

Young players of this calibre will make the league a real going concern this winter.

What prospects there are for amateur hockey hereabouts in the [illegible] will be seen to some degree tonight when the preliminary fall organization meeting of the Edmonton District Hockey Association is held.

This meet should give some sort of indication as to what should be on tap for followers of the senior, junior and other amateur loops in the approaching campaign.

Royal Curlers Meet Tonight

The semi-annual meeting of the Royal Curling club will be held this (Wednesday) evening at eight o'clock, in the rink club rooms, 121 street, when business pertaining to the coming season's activities will be dealt with. A hearty welcome is extended by this club to all those who would like to participate in this popular winter pastime.

ANOTHER METZGER?

Florida University has a guard prospect who promises to be a second Bert Metzger, the mite mountain who played guard for Notre Dame in 1930. He is George McCampbell, who, while weighing 156 pounds, is only two pounds over the weight of Metzger.

CUBS GET COLLEGE STAR

The Chicago Cubs have signed Roy Henshaw, southpaw twirler of the University of Chicago for the past two years. He will report for the spring training trip to Catalina next February.

HEAVIEST PRO GRIDDER

Weighing 275 pounds, Harold Ely, tackle on the Chicago Bears professional eleven, and formerly of the University of Iowa, is said to be the heaviest gridder in the professional ranks.

EARLY DRIVE PLANNED BY CON SMYTHE

Stanley Cup Titlists Are Intact Except For Two Players

(This is the second of a series of stories on prospects of National Hockey League Clubs for the 1932-33 season.)

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—Bolstered by bigger and better reserve material on instant call at the Syracuse farm Toronto's National Hockey League champions are being groomed to go out and set the pace in the new campaign that starts for the Leafs on Nov. 11.

TWO MISSING

With all but two of the Stanley Cup titlists again on the roster, Manager Conny Smythe has announced the Leafs will put on an early drive to get in front in the Canadian division, instead of depending on a fast finish as they did last season to overthrow all opposition in the play-offs.

The spectacular "kid" forward line might have grown up somewhat in the off-season but they have not slowed down so far as wily old Dick Irvin can observe. The veteran coach will use the youthful trio, Charlie Conacher, Joe Primeau and Harvey Jackson, as his first-string front line and back it up with two combinations that seem as strong as the Leafs were able to turn out a year ago.

LIKES DORATY

Doraty, flashy lightweight from Regina who was an outstanding right winger with Cleveland in the International league, is likely to team up with rangy Andy Blair and young Bob Gracie on forward line No. 3

The second line will be composed of veterans, Harold Darragh, Ace Bailey and Harold Cotton.

Unless Smythe and Irvin make a last-minute switch in plans, Charlie Sands, Bill Thomas and Buzz Boll will go to the Stars for seasoning, subject to recall on short notice.

The trio, as well as Freddy Robertson, who turned pro with Boll and Thoms, mated on the Toronto Marlboro, senior amateur team late last season, showed promise in training. Robertson will accompany them to Syracuse.

SOME EXPENSE

Defensively the Leafs are unchanged from last season. Veteran Lorne Chabot is back in the net. The outer guards still stand. King Clancy and Red Horner will start in front of the former Port Arthur goal-tender with Happy Day and Alex Levinsky dividing the heavy burden.

Senior High School Final On Monday

A football encounter that should produce some high class action is carded for Monday afternoon at Renfrew park when Victoria and Garneau lock horns in the Senior High school gridiron final for the city championship. The kick-off is timed for four o'clock sharp.

The two teams went through a strenuous campaign to reach the finals. Evenly matched, they should provide an interesting tussle.

The probable line-ups are as follows:—

LOSES 'LEVEN

The University of Alabama will lose 11 of its crack football squad by graduation this year. Among them is Captain John "Hurry" Cain.

Forum Is Crowded As Montreal Teams Drill

Canadiens and Maroons Flash Through Paces Before 10,000 Fans

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—Ten thousand fans last night thronged the forum here to watch Maroons and Canadiens of the National Hockey League work out.

Headed by Mayor Fernand Rinfret the populace gave a convincing display of hockey interest as first Maroons and then Canadiens exhibited their newcomers and veterans.

WILCOX MAY GO

It was learned Wilcox might be sold to Detroit Red Wings on a straight cash basis. Maroons were using three forward lines, with Dave Trottier flanked by Hug. Plaxton and Sammy Ward as one line; Bill Phillips surrounded by Jimmy Ward and Baldy Northcott and another, and the kids, Paul Haynes with Glen Brydson and Lorne Duguid as the third.

Canadiens lined up in two teams with Morenz, Joliat and Gagnon, the old firm, leading one team backed by Burke and Sylvo Mantha while Raymond, Gaudreault, last year with Providence and George Mantha made up another, with Al [illegible] Leduc and Gerald Carson as second defence. Newsy Lalonde, experimenting with forward lines at times tried other combinations [illegible] and Mondou working together.

Peter Pan Takes Melbourne Cup

FLEMINGTON RACE TRACK, VICTORIA, Australia, Nov. 2.—Peter Pan, the favorite, Tuesday won the Melbourne Cup classic of the Australian racing season, from a field of 27.

The winner, starting at odds of 4 to 1 against, trailed the field during the greater part of the race but forged ahead [illegible] to finish two lengths in front of Yarramba, quoted at 20 to 1.

Here's Wreckage

Contending that he's still a darn good fighter for the shape he's in, Tommy Loughran, former light heavy king, says he won't quit the ring after the pasting Stanley Poreda recently gave him. Below you can readily see what a shape he's in. The pictures, taken in the home of his manager, Joe Smith, at Lansdowne, Pa., show his ear held in place by a bandage and his foot encased in a plaster cast. The cast resulted from his fighting Poreda with a broken bone in his foot. Inset shows a close-up of his bandaged head.

M'DOUGALL IN VICTORY OVER VICTORIA HIGH

Winners to Meet Garneau For City School Grid Title

McDougall school junior gridders cut the chesty Victoria squad down to defeat yesterday afternoon at Victoria grounds in a Junior High school football league game, 17-6, and by virtue of their win, McDougall gains a berth in the playoff against Cyril Burchell's classy Garneau squad for the city championship.

Yesterday's winners took command of the situation and throughout the entire 60 minutes were always in the lead. As the final quarter began, Vic was pressing on the short end of a 10-6 count and chances for a deadlock appeared. A touchdown and two kicks to the deadline by McDougall, ruined the hopes of the red sweatered devils from Victoria, during the last period play.

Beckett, hustling McDougall quarterback, went over for the first major score in the opening stanza on a quarterback sneak. The convert failed.

The school made famous by the Commercial Grads clicked for another five points in the second stanza, Malleroy crossing Vic's goal line on a cross buck. The try for goal was short of the uprights.

The losers broke into the scoring column after the kick off in the third quarter, Coatts shooting a long twister over McDougall's line for a deadline point. This was followed by a fake end run by Crawford which was one of the prettiest plays of the game, resulting in a touchdown. Vic's try for convert was short.

Entering the final quarter, the Red and Black wave looked good for at least a draw but McDougall was not yet through with their scoring efforts. McKinley crashed through the losers' front wall for a touchdown. Harrison put the game on ice for McDougall with two booming kicks to the deadline.

During the season, McDougall has lost but one game in the entire schedule, while Garneau, their rivals in the coming play-off have even a better record. The South Siders have a perfect record, proving superior to all other junior school teams in the league contests. Garneau was the only school capable of taking the McDougallites into camp by the narrow score of 11-6.

An interesting battle looms when these two bitter foes come to grips in the title clash, the date to be announced within a few days.

Cooper Smeaton Will Return to Ice Wars

MONTREAL, Nov. 2. — Cooper Smeaton is returning to hockey. President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League tonight stated that Smeaton, former referee-in-chief who retired towards the end of last season, has again joined the refereeing staff. Last year's veterans, Smeaton, Hewitson, Mallcon [illegible]

Gossip From Puck Camps

Art Ross' squad of Boston Bruins was completed with the arrival at the Quebec training camp of hockey's most colorful defenseman, Eddie Shore, and the one-time Harvard nine-letter men, George Owen, another stalwart of the rearguard. This brought the Bruins' staff of defensemen up to seven, of whom probably all but four will be sent to the minors.

Others working on the Boston defense are Lionel Hitchman, "Yip" Foster, of rugby fame, Joe and Frank Jerwa and the erstwhile forward, Percy Galbraith. Galbraith may return to a forward position. Hitchman, veteran of many campaigns, is certain to be retained but the others are bidding for the one position left open.

Montreal's twin entries in the National Hockey league attracted 10,000 spectators to their workouts. Canadiens snapped through their paces with their usual verve and dash. Leo Dandurand announced that Aurel Joliat had come to terms. With the signing of the brilliant little left-winger only Marty Burke, hard-hitting defefnseman, remains to be signed.

Eddie Gerard experimented with various combinations on his Maroon forward line while Hooley Smith and Archie Wilcox watched activities from the sidelines, still in the holdout ranks. Archie, aggressive defense player, may go to Detroit Red Wings via the cash-sale route. Hack Simpson, giant Winnipeg defenseman, may go to Windsor Bulldogs for seasoning.

Bullet Joe Simpson thinks his New York Americans are 50 per cent. stronger than last season. The Toronto Maple Leafs are the team to beat for the championship, he said, but his star-spangled crew, with the addition of new players designed to give scoring punch, will give the Stanley Sup holders a real battle. Joe gave his opinion at an Oshawa Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Jack Adams' ailing Red Wings are mending rapidly. Herbie Lewis' crocked knee is almost well and he expects to take part in Thursday's exhibition clash with the Detroit Olympics of the International league. Goalie John Ross Roach, recuperating from jaw injuries, and speedy Emil Hanson of the defense will probably return to the lineup for Sunday night's game against the same team. Ref. Noble and Happy Emms are still absent as holdouts.

Toronto fans to the number of 4,000 greeted the Maple Leafs' return to home ice, where they went through a workout marked by the absence of any strenuous play. They [illegible]

Harry Watson, who [illegible] Toronto Nationals to the Allan cup, will get a tryout as a referee in the N. H. L. Cooper Smeaton, veteran arbiter for the major circuit who retired near the end of last season, is also slated for duty this season.

COACH BROWN PREPARES HIS GRID MACHINE

Readying Young Liberals For Alberta Final With Calgary

Having come through that rough-and-tumble scrap down South last Saturday in fairly good shape, the hard boiled Young Liberals are fairly itching to batter the Altomahs into submission here Saturday afternoon in the second and final game of the Junior Canadian football series for the championship of Alberta.

Coach "Scotty" Brown allowed the boys a full two-day rest after the battle in Calgary last week, but last night he had them down at Renfrew Park for a few turns around the field to loosen the kinks and then the squad retired to their dressing quarters for a chalk talk on various plays.

The youthful Grits are confident that they have the ability to erase the lead of the Cow Towners and progress further in the quest for gridiron fame. They all feel that the strenuous week in which four games were played was the main factor in their downfall.

Four games is altogether too much for any football team in the short span of a week. Liberals were a leg-weary team when they pointed for the south and a tiresome bus trip certainly did not improve their condition.

THEY'RE DETERMINED

By Saturday, the boys will be fully rested and recuperated and [illegible] for it the Altomahs [illegible]

With interest in the coming battle occupying the attention of sport gatherings throughout the down town sections, Saturday looks like a big day for junior football. A capable executive has been formed and arrangements have been going ahead for a monster ticket selling campaign. Regardless of the fall of snow last night, Junior League supporters are getting behind the game in large numbers. Even the players themselves are out selling tickets for the clash. Special admission prices have been arranged for Public and High school students of the city.

If the field is blanketed by snow, arrangements will be made to scrape the playing surface on Saturday morning.

READY FOR ANYTHING

Coach Brown stated last night that he may make a few changes in various spots to meet the style of Calgary's attack and defence. The Politicians will hold workouts tonight and Thursday under the lights and will taper off with a skull practice on Friday.

MONTREAL, Nov. 2—The second day's subscriptions to the new Dominion long-term loan totalled $8,000,000, which, added to the amount of the issue taken on Monday brings the total subscriptions to $23,000,000. With the $25,000,000 subscribed to the short-term loan the government had thus secured $48,000,000 of the $80,000,000 placed on the market.

of lots for residential or business purposes, and there are 364 renters of land for agriculture, dairying or poultry raising purposes. Total rents collected were $76,726.40, being an increase of $3,317.35 over last year. 220 parcels of property were sold for $40,985. Repurchases by former owners amounted to $5,492. 26 exchanges of lots took place involving 45 lots passing out of the city's hands, at a valuation of $14,240, while 52 lots came to the city, having a valuation of $12,965, the difference in value being paid in cash. Most of the lots exchanged by the city were used for building purposes and homesite extensions. On tax sale account there is shown a net surplus of $4,981, as between the cost to the city and the prices realized for lots sold. On rental account there is a net credit to general revenue account of $4,751. From a comparative statement of the assessable values of properties reinstated by sale on the tax roll since 1921, it is shown that the assessable value of lots reinstated by the land department since 1921 amounts to $3,231,343.

LICENSE DEPARTMENT
Mr. T. M. McCallum

The revenue of the department for the year amounts to $61,870, as compared with $59,507 for the same period last year.

MARKET DEPARTMENT
Mr. E. Kendall

The revenue of the Market Department for the nine months' period amounted to $11,455, as compared with $11,518 last year, while expenditures amounted to $5,377, as compared with $6,087 last year, resulting in a surplus on operation for the present year of $6,078, as compared with $5,430 last year.

POLICE DEPARTMENT
Chief Constable A. G. Shute

The report of the chief of police shows that the numerical strength of the force at present is 85, including all ranks, clerical staff and janitors. There is also one employee in charge of the city pound, now located at the exhibition grounds. Of the above staff, 70 are located at headquarters; 10 at No. 2 Station, South Edmonton; 3 at No. 3 Station, North Edmonton; and one at Calder, and one at the sub-station on Exhibition Grounds to which the city pound is attached. The present strength of 85 is six below normal, due to the fact that 7 men have been retired from the force through resignations, etc., with one replacement. Special features of the report have to do with the health and discipline. Attention is directed to the necessity for some form of a pension scheme to take care of retirement of the older members. The police department is equipped with one Buick 8 sedan, one Willys 6 sedan, a Chevrolet 6 sedan, a Ford 4 sedan and a Ford open car in addition to which there is a Dodge 6 patrol wagon. The department has two horses (aged), one of which is attached to the No. 3 Station at North Edmonton and the other at the city pound. The condition of the uniforms and equipment of the department is also dealt with. Chief Constable Shute in reporting on the automatic traffic signals at 101st street and Jasper avenue, and also at the intersection of 101st street and 102nd avenue, definitely recommends their permanent retention.

Fines amounting to $5,481 show a decline from 1931. Reference is made to the fact of the police department having occupied its new quarters at the corner of 102nd avenue and 98th street since February last. The transfer involved a certain amount of additional expenditure on new furniture and accommodation for records and essential equipment. Under the heading of Uniform Department the number of persons booked through the police register was 1,089, compared with 1,341 for the same period of 1931. The average number of monthly arrests was 121, compared with 147 last year. There were 1093 prosecutions for breaches of the city bylaws, and 415 under the Vehicles and Highways Traffic Act

A warning is issued to business firms to see that all premises are made lockfast at the close of the day in the interests of the protection of their property, 1367 places of business, warehouses, etc., having been discovered by patrol men to have been left insecure overnight. Complaints handled by the detective department numbered 2427, as compared with 3,245 last year (nine months' period).

A new police signal system (Strowger), was recommended by the chief last year, but on account of the failure of the necessary bylaws to pass, this equipment is still unprovided, and is urgently required. The estimated cost was $25,000.

Appreciation is expressed by the chief of the co-operation of the police magistrates, commanding officers and members of the R.C.M.P. and other organizations.

RECREATION—

The Municipal Golf Links show a surplus on operation for this year of $3,974.88, as compared with $4,561.36 last year. On the Swimming Pools there is shown a loss on operation of the West End and East End pools of $986 and $844 respectively, the South Side Pool showing a surplus of $341.85. The total number of bathers patronizing the various pools was 112,531.

SPECIAL RELIEF DEPARTMENT
Mr. H. F. McKee, Manager

A comprehensive report has been submitted in regard to the operations of this department, the supervision of which was assumed by Mr. McKee early in the year. A thorough going registration and inspection has been carried out of all cases of relief. According to the check-up in August there were 3,119 adults and 4,156 children, besides 112 single men on relief. The schedule of allowances for married men varies from a minimum of $3 per week for man and wife (without children), up to a maximum of $9.00 for a man and wife with 9 children.

Shelter allowance is based on a maximum of $1.50 per month each for light and water, $5.00 for fuel and a maximum of $15.00 for rent, varying according to the size of the family.

Comparative figures are given as to the rent allowances during the present year, which ranged from $9,197 in February, up to $14,891 in June. Shoes repaired numbered 8,466, at a cost for material of $3,626.69, making a net cost per pair of 42c. The gross expenditure on clothing for the nine months period amounted to $29,603, of which the city's share would be one-third. The advantages of last year's program of unemployment relief work as a means of assistance in relief work are noted. Recipients are now required instead of contributing one day's work per week as a quid pro quo for their relief, to contribute five consecutive days every five weeks, which is a better arrangement. The gross expenditures on relief for the nine months period amounts to $727,242.53 (of which one-third represents the city's share), while the administration costs amount to $35,068.93, making a total of $762,311.46, as compared with a total for the period of last year of $378,894.14. This year a contribution is being made by the provincial government to the cost of administration which has hitherto been borne by the city, of $15,000. Under the Farm Relief Settlement Plan 56 cases (families) have been recommended to the provincial board (with three rejections) these cases having been placed on farms under arrangement with the provincial government, towards the cost of which the city will make a contribution of one-third, not exceeding $200 per case. The number of taxpayers on relief is 302 men and 10 women. Coal consumption for the period amounted to 7,989 tons, costing $35,766.18; 1,711 loads of wood, costing $5,804.61, and gas consumption, $2,505.05.

TOWN PLANNING COMMISSION
Mr. J. F. D. Tanqueray,
Secretary-Planner

The work of the Commission has included the completion of the Major Street Plan which was adopted by Council early in the year, while the Zoning Bylaw is practically completed and will be presented to Council shortly. The revision of the new Building Bylaw which has been in progress some considerable time is also under way.

CIVIC UTILITIES

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER DISTRIBUTION DEPARTMENT

Gross revenue has been increased by $16,393 over the same period of last year, while the net surplus of the Department is greater than that of last year by $22,396. The Superintendent states that there is every indication that the Net Surplus for the year will be the largest in the history of the Department. Actual cash collected during the period under review is over $9,000 higher than for the same period last year, showing highly satisfactory additional collections. No extensions have been made to street lighting this year on account of the necessity for curtailing expenditures. The statistical statement of the Department shows very satisfactory progress.

POWER PLANT AND PUMPING AND FILTRATION PLANT
Mr. W. J. Cunningham, Supt.

The revenue of this Department shows an increase of $17,400.60 over the period of last year. Expenditures show a decrease. The total K.W.H. delivered for distribution shows an increase of 824,200. Water pumped, filtered and delivered shows an increase of 76,672,000 gallons. The Net Surplus of the Department after providing all Capital and Depreciation Charges for the nine months period is $163,882.64 as compared with $112,560.04 for the previous year. No serious interruptions or major accidents or breakdowns occurred during the period.

The new boiler unit was placed in operation on the 15th July. During the period 36,976 tons of coal were used as compared with 29,232 for the period of last year, the cost being $65,788 as against $59,844.74. The average cost per ton was $1.78 as compared with $2.05. The cost of water pumped per million gallons was $58.45 as compared with $68.30 last year.

STREET RAILWAY DEPARTMENT
Superintendent W. J. Cunningham.

The revenue of the Department was $540,930.68 as against $539,233.53 for last year, an increase of $1,697.15. The number of passenger carried was 9,008,339, an increase over last year of 57,176 fares. The net result was a deficit for the period of $5,689.04 compared with $36,800.38 for the similar period last year or a betterment of $31,111.34. Good service has been maintained. The car and bus mileage for the period being 1,803,953 as against 1,809,002 miles for the nine months of last year. Reference is made to the motor bus service replacing street car operation on 102nd avenue from 124th street to 149th street, the operating results on this route have been satisfactory showing an increase in passengers carried as compared with former street car operation of 30 per cent. This is attributed largely to the extension of the service between 142nd street and 149th street. Track reconstruction and re-paving was carried out on Alberta avenue and on Jasper avenue east while rehabilitation of the special work at the intersection of Jasper avenue and 101st street and also at 109th street was carried out.

TELEPHONE DEPARTMENT
Superintendent R. Christie

Attention is directed by the Superintendent to the net debenture debt of this department being only slightly over $892,069 (including unsold debentures) debentures having matured during the year amounting to $307,087.67.

There are 764 fewer telephones in service than for the corresponding period of last year. Notwithstanding the Telephone Department revenue is keeping up well due principally to the fact that the City is now handling its own advertising in connection with the issue of the Telephone Directory. Mention is made of a new private automatic exchange at the Oliver Mental Institute and that notwithstanding the switch board is ten miles from our central office is operating successfully. Considerable replacement of obsolete aerial cables has taken place in various parts of the city. The net surplus of the Department for the nine months period is $91,637.74 against $83,796.79 last year. Telephones in service numbered 15,534.

WATERWORKS DEPARTMENT
Supervisor R. J. Gibb

Considerable construction work including replacement of old steel mains and new extensions was carried out by the Department. New mains of 2.2 miles having been extended in various districts. An important item was the extension of a 20" feeder main forming part of the original design of the distribution system which was constructed from 103rd Avenue via 103A Avenue and north via 92nd Street across the Stadium and connecting the existing 20" feed main at 112th avenue and 82nd Street. This work was carried out under contract at a cost of $62,000 and formed part of the winter Unemployment Relief Work program undertaken in conjunction with the Provincial and Dominion Governments. The importance of this 20" feeder main is that it greatly strengthens the circulation of water and increases the volume to provide adequate fire protection to all the northeast section of the distribution system. Various other mains were constructed providing for better circulation of water and improvement of the system.

During the winter months under the relief work program 600 feet of 20" steel main was replaced with cast iron main across Rat Creek ravine at 82nd Street also 277 feet of 16" steel main was replaced with 10" cast iron main across the ravine on 102nd Avenue at the site of the new 131st Street bridge. A large quantity of old wooden mains was abandoned.

The Department controls 215.8 miles of water mains and 1000 fire hydrants while the water services in the system number 18,187 as compared with 17,974 for the same time last year. The total sewer services in the system is shown as 16,443 as compared with 16,263 for last year.

Call of the West

By R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELO, timber king, of having men shot who attempt to check up on his activities. He tells Delo he is making a check. Delo tells him he will see personally that he does not. Upon leaving Delo's office Ball saves DONA, Asper's daughter, from kidnappers and tells her he is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, goes with her to Three Rivers to get her father to give up his wild fight with Ball. Dudley plans to marry Dona and gets a certificate signed. Ball is accused of killing a ranger and of a number of crimes. He is supposed to have ambushed Delo and wounded him badly. Dona has to tell her father she is married to Dudley in order to quiet him and get him to give up the hunt. He agrees, but backs out when the office is robbed. The posse surround Ball. They are headed by SWERGIN, Delo's timber boss, who has taken a fancy to Dona.

Dona joins the hunt and is captured by Ball after attempting to shoot him. He takes her to a cave. Swergin discovers the cave while Ball is outside and captures him, rescuing Dona. Swergin's men start to lynch Ball, but Dona steps in and saves him. He takes her with him, but lets her have his horse to ride to camp. She returns it that night and Dudley follows her. He tries to shoot Ball, but misses. Dona is contrite and agrees to marry him. Dudley has been riding by himself a great deal. Dona agrees to marry him that evening. They ride out and Dona, who knows now she cares for Ball, leads him to the cave. Dona thinks Ball has left, but Dudley finds live coals. Dona discovers activity in Pass Creek that she is sure her father does not know about. She decides to ride over the next day. Her horse is shot from under her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX

"I'll get that dirty skunk," he gritted.

"You're all O. K. now," he rumbled and let her head sink to the grass.

Dona smiled weakly and closed her eyes. She was striving to remember what had happened. The roan had gone wobbly from a bullet, yes; Ball had been trying to head her off and there had been a race. Dona wondered what had become of the roan.

"I couldn't pot him for fear of hitting you," Swergin went on. "I'll get him and get him good," he added by way of reassurance.

Swergin picked her up and carried her to his horse. He mounted with her in his arms, a feat that only he could have accomplished. Carefully, he rode down the mountain and into camp.

Asper Delo was on the porch, finishing his preparations for leaving Three Rivers, when Swergin rode in. He stared at the approaching rider. When he saw the burden the timber boss had in his arms he leaped from the porch.

Swergin delivered Dona to her father's arms and rushed for the doctor. Asper carried his daughter to her room tenderly. He was trembling with fear as he bent over her silent form.

Finally the medical man turned to Asper. "Bad shock. Must have had a fall from her horse. You'll have to keep her in bed for some time She must have constant attention for 24 hours."

"Will she make it?" Asper whispered, hoarsely.

• • •

Asper walked outside. He met Swergin coming out of his office. The timber boss was in a great hurry, but Asper stopped him.

"What happened?" he demanded.

"Ball?" Asper's eyes darkened.

"Yes, he shot her horse from under her," Swergin went on. "Wanted to get her I guess but I opened up on him."

"Did you get him?" There was a flinty light in Asper's eyes.

"Where are you going?" Asper demanded impatiently.

Asper went outside and toward the corrals. He was irritated at not being able to find Dudley.

"Have you seen Winters?" Asper asked Malloy, as the latter greeted him.

• • •

Malloy's eyes narrowed. He stood still for a long minute, then he swung around, a queer light in his eyes. "I believe I'll do a little riding, after I round up Winters," he said slowly.

"Who brought in the news?" Malloy asked.

Asper did not flare up at this questioning by his corral man. Instead he leaned forward eagerly. He was grasping at every shred of comfort he could find. "Swergin," he replied.

Malloy grunted and jerked his cinch tight. "I'll take a hand from now on," he drawled. Facing Asper he asked another question. "Will she—that is, is she bad hurt?"

Asper got a grip on himself. "The Doc says she will make it if we are careful. You rush that young fool in."

"I'll have him in no time." Malloy promised as he leaped into the saddle. He galloped across the clearing as though he knew just where he was going.

Asper turned toward the main building and hurried up the path. He entered the sick room softly and stood behind the doctor who was sitting at Dona's side. The doctor did not look up for a long time. Finally he got up with a nod of his head and walked out into the hall. Asper followed him eagerly.

"Resting easy but she will not be able to tell you anything until tomorrow. You must stay close until she comes to herself. I will likely need you then." The doctor seemed to mean this for a dismissal.

• • •

Asper walked out on the porch and paced up and down. He was rapidly growing angry at Dudley for his prolonged absence. After a half hour he heard horses' hoof beats and saw Malloy riding in. Malloy was alone and he came straight to the the big building.

"I would have bet a saddle on it," Malloy answered slowly.

"Where did you look?" Asper asked.

Asper grunted and turned toward the open door. "Get him here as soon as you can," he ordered.

Malloy lingered on the bottom step, and Asper halted to see what he wanted. "Can she talk?" the cowboy asked.

• • •

Malloy pulled his hat down over his eyes and turned to his horse. This time he cut through the timber close to the cabin and headed up the main trail that led toward Pass Creek. Not until he was well out of sight did he swing off and circle back along the slope.

Asper returned to his daughter's room and sat down. He watched her soft lips move in soundless mumble. Bending close, he tried to catch the words. In her hazy unconsciousness she seemed to be struggling to speak a name.

Asper got up and paced outside. She was calling for Dudley, he was sure, and the old man's blood heated as he waited impatiently for the return of the missing husband.

Asper would have been really worried had he known the name that Dona was repeatedly forming with her lips. In her wandering mind she was searching for Stan Ball and trying to speak to him. It seemed to her that he was near and she wanted him to come and help her.

Asper strode down to the corrals. He was surprised to find Malloy at the saddle barn. The corral boss was strapping a slicker back of his saddle and his face showed plainly that he was bent on important business.

"Did you locate Winters?" Asper almost shouted.

HUNTERS FAIL TO GET MEAT

No hot-footed messengers have yet dashed in panting and breathless from the far-flung firing line of the boys in scarlet, who are out to get a big buck or a monster moose—or even a cunning caribou—with any good news about dead deer.

A check made at the leading dealers in lethal weapons such as are fancied by the knowing Nimrods, disclosed that only alibis, and no meat, had come back for far.

Clyde McDougall, gunsmith and noted sharpshooter, frankly admitted that one hunter had been to him and said he had fired at a deer and missed. He couldn't understand this and wanted his sights fixed.

Other hunters report having seen deer, but said that the bush was dry and it was hard to get up close. The recent snow will help matters.

Police Court

Earl Wride, transient, who robbed Arthur Hay of $1 to defray the expense of taking his girl-friend out to supper, was sentenced Wednesday morning by Magistrate Col. P. C. H. Primrose, to serve one year at hard labor in the Fort Saskatchewan jail on conviction of robbery with violence.

Wride pleaded not guilty to the charge but crown witnesses substantiated testimony that he had chased Hay for a block, thrown him to the pavement of 101 street and robbed him of the dollar Sunday night.

Adjournment until Friday was given George Reginald and Albert Orgill who face charges of shop breaking and retaining stolen property. Detectives Ken O'Brien and P. Appleby found Orgill sitting in a parked car late Tuesday night outside the garage of Stories ural transport. Reginald was found inside the premises. Entrance had been made by backing the car up to the door, climbing in the roof, smashing the glass above the entrance and crawling through. Property, alleged to have been stolen, was found in the car.

• • •

"If it were not for the crookedness of some second hand dealers, thieves wouldn't be able to get away with so much," observed Magistrate Primrose when he fined Sam Brezor, second hand dealer, $5 and costs for failing to keep records of sales. "And $5 will be added to the fine for every offence," ruled the court.

Adjournment until Friday was given Charles and Marie Young, charged with being keepers of a bawdy house at 10205 89 street, which was raided last Sunday night by the morality squad. Lucille Como, alleged inmate, was granted the same adjournment.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 2—The steamer Maritana was released from St. Helena shoal, near St. Ignace, early Tuesday by the wrecking tug Favorite. The vessel, heavily laden with stone, ran aground Monday. About 300 tons of her cargo was jettisoned before the tug pulled the Maritana free. The steamer ran aground in a heavy snowstorm.

Whitney Letter

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Despite the fact that yesterday's price movement could not in any way be construed as favorable, when due consideration is given the significance and importance of the news which confronted the market, it must be said in truth that things could have been far worse than they were for there were still indications that the area of resistance to decline, around the 60 mark, in the industrial averages, was being recognized. There was nothing cheerful about the speculative community learning of another new low in wheat. There was considerable disappointment experienced by the failure of the President during his address at Madison Square Garden to even mention prohibition. What favorableness there was to the announcement that Standard Oil of New Jersey had declared the regular and customary extra dividend was virtually eliminated by a reduction in the dividend rate of the New York Company of the Rockefeller interests, and the disclosure that one of the world's most prominent public utilities, namely, Consolidated Gas, had earned but little over one-third of its dividend requirements in the third quarter of this year. In addition to these discouraging facts there was also news of no improvement in the steel industry, and an indication that next Saturday's car-loadings report will show a very substantial decrease in loadings.

It still appears that the time is not opportune for the sponsors of the market to attempt any markup program and it is becoming increasingly evident that, in order to mark prices up, election time must be awaited. The markup at this time, as, if, and when it develops must be regarded as a rally rather than as a definite turn in trend for there is too much in the way of actual facts available to imply that a change in trend of the market is imminent as a result of a change in trend of business fundamentals. There are entirely too many prominent concerns whose securities for years have had a "halo" investment quality whose earnings show dividend disbursements unjustified even though the present financial condition appears satisfactory. No one with justification on reviewing the earnings of such concerns as American Fone, Cons. Gas, and U.S. Steel can say that the dividends paid by these companies currently are secure for ever and a day. The market, when it next rallies, will rally from conditions within itself with the assistance of strong arm tactics by its sponsors. Internal conditions of the market today are not such as to make it probable that any sharp rally is imminent so must continue to advise one and all to buy nothing until the word is given here.

SLOW-MOTION SESSION FOR STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The stock market crawled through another slow-motion session today, occasionally showing a slight upward trend but never getting very far from Tuesday's final quotations.

Helped by a generally favorable assortment of mid-week business statistics, the market appeared to profit by a smal volume of early short covering.

At the best a number of leading equities were up a point, gains of that amount being made by National Biscuit, American Telephone, Shell Union Oil preferred, American Can, Du Pont, Public Service of New Jersey and a handful of others. These advances, however, had been substantially shaded by early afternoon.

Drug was active and strong following declaration of a regular quarterly dividend. Usual payments were also voted by Standard Oils of Indiana and California the latter company incidentally, reporting a larger net income for the first nine months of last year tha nfor the same 1931 period.

Imminence of the General Motors dividend meeting, scheduled after the close, may have acted as a deterrent to the display of much speculative energy. General Motors shares were steady.

Strength of sterling exchange suggested the reappearance of official support from the British treasury's stabilization fund.

Removal Of Cattle Embargo Welcomed By Hon. G. Hoadley

Removal of the livestock embargo by the British government means elimination of another of the irritating and costly handicaps to the Canadian producers of beef cattle for shipment to Great Britain, declared Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture and health, on Wednesday.

No doubt this removal was a detail of procedure that had been considered by the British government as an outcome of the Imperial Economic conference, which meant the result was better for Canada without lessening protection for the British producers. So far as lifting the embargo concerned disease in cattle, the minister recalled that this was also satisfactory, although Alberta cattle needed no such provision.

Dealing with the livestock industry as a whole, the minister said that there still remained a great need for a through rate from the Alberta loading point to point of disembarkation in Britain. An effort should be made to reduce small charges on the way to Britain and Hon. Robert Weir had been working to this end.

Blatchford-Sheppard To Debate Tonight

Residents of the King Edward Park district expect to hear at least one of the mayoralty candidates at 8:15 on Wednesday evening, ex-mayor K. A. Blatchford being scheduled to appear there tonight to debate the power situation with Ald. Rice-Sheppard.

It is understood that Ald. Rice-Sheppard will undertake to defend the action of the council which entered into the agreement with the Calgary Power Company, while ex-mayor Blatchford, who has been criticizing the agreement in his campaign speeches, will outline his views of the situation.

SHIP IN PERIL

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 2—The Russian steamer Tovarish Stalin, with 126 passengers, some of them women, ran aground in the night off the west coast of Spitzbergen while she was on the way from Tromsoe to the Russian coal mines in the Spitzbergen islands.

ORE SAMPLES OF HIGH VALUE

Exceeding the highest expectations of the two prospectors, Charlie E. White and C. W. McKee, who staked the claims for the syndicate, assays have come back from Ottawa of samples sent by the Edson Great Bear lake syndicate and taken from Claim No. 4 of the Thompson group on Contact lake.

The samples showed high values in pitchblende, gold and silver, with corresponding high values in the base metals in the mineralized rock sent to Ottawa.

It is computed that the pitchblende will run between $7,000 and $8,000 to the ton in radio-active ore.

The value of the silver is not given, but it is stated to be very rich.

No reports have yet been received on Camsell river samples sent to Ottawa by the syndicate from claims staked by White and McKee. The two men went in early last spring by plane and were the first to make a good strike on the west shore of Contact lake.

Homestead Entries 376 For October

Homestead entries for October totalled 376 at the five provincial land offices, according to figures released on Wednesday by Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer and minister of lands and mines.

Second in order was the Peace River office with 64, and next Grande Prairie with 38.

Of the total number of entries 342 were first entries, and 31 were seconds.

In all three soldier grants were filed, and 120 of the total entries were made by women.
